

Police charge two in school vandalism

Driver tears up high school ball field, housing development turf

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Report

Antioch Police Officers have arrested the driver of a 4-wheel vehicle who was involved in damaging Antioch school athletic fields and a second person who became involved after the fact.

"We're following up every instance of criminal damage to property with vehicles—lawn or stop signs or school damage—and we're charging the offenders with the most serious offenses which the law will allow us in these cases," said Antioch Police Chief Charles Watkins.

On Saturday, May 2 at 4:15 a.m., Jesse W. Johnson, 19, of Antioch, left Route 173 in a 1992 Isuzu Amigo to drive north onto baseball fields at Antioch Upper Grade School.

"He tore the ball diamond up," said Watkins.

Johnson used his vehicle to create damage on the field with ruts, tracks, and circular skids in the grass called "donuts."

Johnson also damaged areas at W. C. Petty School.

After the school damage, Johnson drove to Tiffany Farms housing development on Tiffany Road and damaged property there with his vehicle.

"He got his 4-wheel drive stuck," said Watkins.

Johnson called upon Jon Wulf, 19, of Antioch, to help him free the Isuzu with his truck. This did not work. A towing company was called that also was unable to pull the Isuzu out of the field. A call to a second towing company with more powerful equipment was made.

Antioch Police Officer Sgt. George Broecker found the vehicles in the field and arrested Johnson and Wulf. Johnson was charged with criminal damage to state supported property and criminal trespass to state supported property. Wulf was charged with criminal trespass to property. Wulf was given a Wednesday, May 26 court date at 10:30 a.m. in Grayslake.

Antioch Police officers also had been investigating a 1 a.m. Saturday, April 17 incident of property damage at Antioch Community High School where the football field was damaged with several donuts up and down the field.

"Mr. Johnson was also responsible for this damage," said Watkins.

Johnson was charged with criminal trespass to state-supported property and criminal damage to state-supported property in this second incident.

Johnson will appear in Waukegan Court on Monday, May 24 at 9 a.m.

"These are both state charges," said Watkins.

Watkins said that it is the policy of the Antioch Police Department to investigate incidents of damage to property, such as to stop signs, mailboxes, lawns, school property and other areas, and to assign maximum charges.

Village honors past, welcomes new trustees

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Wayne Foresta, Barbara Porch and Larry Hanson were sworn into office as village trustees by Village Clerk Candi L. Rowe at the Monday, May 3 village board meeting.

Departing trustees Taso Maravelas and Mabel Lou Weber were honored with proclamations, gifts, and expressions of gratitude for their years of service.

At the completion of the ceremonies, the newly sworn trustees joined the board meeting.

Wayne Foresta is an incumbent, re-elected to his position.

Barbara Porch and Larry Hanson were elected in the Tuesday, April 13 election. This is the first public office for Barbara Porch. Larry Hanson has served as a village trustee previously, but not in recent years.

Both Hanson and Porch are downtown merchants and active in the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry. Porch also serves as the President of the chamber.

Both Maravelas and Weber had announced earlier their intention not to seek re-election to their positions as village trustee.

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug told outgoing trustee Maravelas, "It's been a pleasure working with you." She thanked him for his generosity, not only to the village, but also to organizations within the community.

Shineflug gave Maravelas a certificate of appreciation for his years of service on the board. She

Emmons' eyes wide open

Teachers, students plan communication retreat

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Students and teachers at Emmons School created, planned, and enjoyed their own creative program to learn about communication in a modern world.

The program unfolded over several hours on Friday, April 30 as pizza, group discussions, jump ropers, improvisational actors, T-shirts, open gym, and warm fuzzies came together to create a special educational event.

Despite the late evening hours, students were able to keep their eyes wide open.

"Eyes Wide Open" was the theme for the event. They splashed it across the forest green T-shirts of all 60 students who chose to participate in the experience.

Emmons teachers Cheryl McCameron, Chris Walsh, and Becky Hockney worked with a panel of a dozen students to plan the event.

"(Students) basically decided what topics," said McCameron. Students said that they wanted to know more about self-esteem, communication and relationships, and getting to know one another better.

The extra-curricular program started at 2 p.m. with a demonstration by Dave Fisher, the Jump Rope Warrior. He provided a program for the entire student body. Fisher demonstrated his amazing jump rope skills and talked about how and why he was able to perform the stunts. His was a message about the need to take care of yourself, to avoid drugs and alcohol, and his need to be in good physical condition to do the high-energy stunt jumping.

After Friday classes, students who chose to participate gathered to learn about what to expect.

"At 4 o'clock, we broke up into small groups," said Walsh. Students talked about what they would experience and got to know one another better—"kind of opening up."

Drug prevention specialist Ann Meyer, of Deerfield, Ill., was the first outside speaker for the evening. "She spoke of the effects of drugs and poor choices, and how they can work together to create disasters."

Students consumed thirteen pizzas at 5:30 p.m.

"At 6 (o'clock) we went into our small groups again. Each group spoke about what Ann talked about," Walsh said.

Imagination Theater took over the gymnasium at 6:30 p.m.

Aimee-Lynn Simpson introduced improvisational actors Steve Leaver and Jane Noles to students who filled the bleachers. "We have a couple of scenes we have prepared," Simpson said. "It is about the importance of communication in a family."

Students were invited to join the actors in some scenes. In the course of an hour's worth of acting and role playing, messages about communication emerged. Noles said, "Sharing honest feelings can be awkward. You don't know what someone's reaction is going to be."

"Where we run into problems is when we worry too much about what people say."

Later, Leaver said that people with low self-esteem find it easier to believe negative things said about them. A technique to counter-act that effect is to surround one's self

Mother's Day pops concert Sunday

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Lakes Area Community Band will play its Mother's Day concert Sunday, May 9 at 3 p.m. at Antioch Community High School in the auditorium.

The concert will feature three special solos as well as a full musical program by the complete band.

"It's a great way to spend the balance of Mother's Day after brunch," said Steve Porch.

Porch is the musical director of the community band, which is supported by Festival Arts of Antioch.

The concert will feature a variety of popular music, including two pieces by Leroy Anderson, "Clarinet Candy" and "The Typewriter."

One special performance will highlight music from television theme songs.

"El Capitan" by John Philip Sousa is another selection.

David Mitchell will perform a

TRUSTEE: Welcome new faces

also gave him a gift from the village. In addition, she handed him his name plate from the dais.

"If you ever run again, you can bring it back," she said.

Mabel Lou Weber served as a village trustee for 18 years in the village. She is from a family with a heritage of service to village government. "There are not enough words to describe your long and devoted career," said Shineflug. "Our doors, as well as our hearts, will always be open to you."

Shineflug then appointed Weber to the Village of Antioch Redevelopment Commission.

Weber received a certificate of appreciation for her years of service on the board. Shineflug gave her a gift from the village. In addition, she handed Weber her name plate from the dais.

State Representative Timothy H. Osmond (R-Dist. 62) had provided a proclamation for Shineflug to present from the Illinois House of Representatives (HR 232). The framed resolution honored Weber's years of service and recognized her contributions to government.

"All I can say is thank you, Village of Antioch, for giving me the privilege of serving you," Weber said. "I'm a delightfully happy person to have served with the Village of Antioch."

Mabel Lou Weber received a standing ovation from everyone in the council chambers.

EMMONS: Retreat to talk

with positive people and messages.

All three actors worked to identify ways that people can diffuse bad situations.

Noles said near the hour's end that they were not there to tell students whether to smoke or drink, but rather to help them develop strong internal values they wanted to live with.

After the role playing about communication problems with Imagination Theater actors, small student groups reconvened for talk and preparation of skits they would perform at 8 o'clock.

"That was awesome," said one student member in one small discussion group. Others agreed with the assessment. Students recalled a similar session from the year before. They discussed self-esteem. They talked of sad events in Antioch. They traded pieces of yarn with one another as they offered compliments.

The evening ended with skits performed by students in each discussion group. Some skits lasted 1 minute, others were longer. For many students, the skit of choice was the need for a single person to stand up to pressures by a larger group to do something wrong.

From 8:30 to 10:30 p.m., Emmons students played basketball or touch football. Some played outside on the playground.

"We do these things to improve our society, to improve our community, to give our kids an outlet to discuss issues that are of concern to them," McCameron said. "I don't think you can have too much opportunity to discuss these things."

"Monday morning they're going to be talking," she said of Emmons students who participated in "Eyes Wide Open." Students will share what they have learned. "They will affect the lives of other people," she said.

Hockney agreed. "I did see a couple of kids were wearing their T-shirts (on Monday)." Children spoke well of their experience with classmates.

"Kids were asking us when we were going to do it again," she said.

Mccameron, Walsh, and Hockney had not yet been able to meet to discuss how the gathering on Friday evening had gone. Informally, the reaction seemed to be positive.

"We think it went pretty well," Hockney said.

CONCERT: Honoring mothers

trumpet solo, "Andante et Allegro."

Mary Stringer will perform a flute solo, "Morceau De Concours."

Porch himself will contribute a piano solo, "Pineapple Rag," a Scott Joplin composition.

"The band is continuing to grow in numbers," said Steve Porch. "We plan on having a very active performance season."

"We're doing Taste of Antioch again this summer," he said. In addition, the band once again will initiate Independence Day festivities on Saturday evening, July 3 with the Antioch Community Choir.

Free tickets for the Mother's Day Concert will be available at the door.

Refreshments are served at the end of the concert. Concerts are usually about 75 minutes.

"The best access is from the tennis court area," Porch said. People attending the concert should park on the east side of the school near the tennis courts during the high school modernization project.

Carriers collect food in mail boxes

Nation-wide food drive Saturday

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Postal carriers will collect non-perishable food items placed next to mailboxes tomorrow, Saturday, May 8.

The local food collection is part of a nationwide drive by the National Association of Letter Carriers and the National Rural Letter Carriers Association.

"We're also getting cooperation from the Postal Service," said Todd Erickson, coordinator of the food drive.

"All food donations stay here in Antioch at the food pantry at United Methodist Church of Antioch," he said.

"(People) can hang or place their non-perishable food items by the mailbox," he said. "Their letter carrier will pick up the food when they deliver the mail."

er will pick up the food when they deliver the mail."

Last year the local postal service food drive collected over 2,000 pounds of food in the Antioch area.

"They need the donations," Erickson said. "This time of year, the food pantry's stocked pretty low."

For people who have post office boxes, there will be a collection box in the lobby in which patrons can place food donations.

The National Association of Letter Carriers has received a donation from Campbell Soup Corporation of 10,000 pounds of food. "That will be distributed to inner-city food pantries," Erickson said.

People should leave food by their mailbox by 9 a.m.

PTO plant sale tomorrow

Spring plants can be bought on Saturday, May 8 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Antioch Lower Grade School at Main and Depot Street.

The Parent Teacher Organizations of Antioch Lower Grade and Oakland schools will be working together to sell annuals, perennials, garden plants, herbs, and hanging baskets.

This is their annual plant sale. These will be high quality plants supplied by local growers.

The hanging flower baskets, especially, are available the day before Mother's Day, Sunday, May 9.

Profits from the sale will help purchase technological materials for each school.

Employees celebrate bank ownership

It has been five years of employee ownership at the First National Bank—Employee Owned. They will celebrate this milestone on Saturday, May 22 from 8:30 a.m. to noon.

"Incorporating Employee Owned into our name is a great honor for us," said Chairman of the Board Ted C. Axton. "It reflects the pride and impeccable service we have as employee owners."

The morning of activities will include complimentary coffee, rolls, juice, and donuts. There will be raffles and give-aways, including tickets to the Saturday, Aug. 21 Chicago Bears-St. Louis Rams game.

FNBO is only one of five employee owned banks in the United States.

The open house will be at both the Antioch, 485 Lake Street, and Gurnee, 36044 North Brookside, facilities of the bank.

The winner of the Northern Lake County Quilter's Guild Medallion Quilt at the Sunday, May 2 quilt show at College of Lake County is Carol Dunn, of Salem, Wis.

"I've never won anything like it," Dunn said.

The night she bought the tickets for the raffle, she only had a $10 bill with her, so she bought 12 tickets. The proceeds went to worthy causes and she was pleased to support it.

Dunn has been interested in quilting for 13 years, but has only recently become active enough to join the Northern Lake County Quilter's Guild.

Wendy Maston, of the quilter's guild, said that the show was well attended. "We had close to 600 (visitors)." The previous show in 1997 had an estimated 350 attendees.

"This is the best show we've done," Maston said.

Fifteen members of the Antioch Lions Club picked up trash in the rights-of-way into Antioch Sunday morning, May 2. They keep more than 7 miles clean.

"Nothing extravagant," said Chuck Cermak, organizer of the event. Members found nothing memorable in the ditches.

"We got finished just about noon," he said. "We harvested about 60 bags again."

Lions left an area near Antioch Community High School untouched. "Another 20 kids went out (Monday) from the high school," he said. They cleaned up that part of the right-of-way.

Helping to keep the Lions properly fueled, Larry Mondle at Baskin-Robbins and Dunkin' Donuts on Orchard Street provided four dozen sweet rolls and donuts "covered with chocolate and frosting." That was in addition to donations from the McDonald's Restaurant, Piggly-Wiggly Supermarket, Jensen House Restaurant, and Burger King Restaurant.

The Antioch Junior Woman's Club has donated $500 to the Antioch Police Department's D.A.R.E. program. The funds were raised by the group during the past year. The contribution was made in mid-April.

North Avenue will be closed for the next training burn held by the Antioch Fire Department First Fire Protection District. The burn will be Sunday, May 16 and involve burning a home between Nelson Road and Deep Lake Road. Antioch will provide all traffic control and police protection.

Antioch Police hosting June golf outing, dinner

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Antioch Police Officers will host their 12th Annual Golf Outing Wednesday, June 9 at the Antioch Golf Club.

The day's events will conclude with a dinner at Maravella's Banquet Hall in Fox Lake.

This year's grand prize drawing will be for a Cancun vacation for two people.

The deadline to purchase tickets for golf and dinner is Sunday, May 30.

Antioch Police Chief Charles Watkins said that he hopes to make this the most successful golf outing the department has held. It has been growing over the years, especially the evening dinner banquet.

The outing is sponsored by members of the Antioch Police Association and the Fraternal Order of Police, Lodge 210. People with questions about the outing and dinner can contact Watkins or Lt. Ron Roth.

The $60 per person ticket includes 18 holes of golf, a cart, hot dog or Bratwurst and beverage, dinner, prizes, and drawings, and more. The social hour is from 6 to 7 p.m. The dinner will be served at 7 p.m. The family style dinner will include roast beef, chicken, mostaccioli, soup, salad, vegetables, and dessert. Dinner tickets only are $22 per person.

The golf outing will have a shot gun start at 12:30 p.m. Check-in is at 11:30 a.m., although arrangements can be made for earlier starts. Hot dogs, Bratwurst, and drinks will be served at check-in.

Financial donations also will be accepted if people wish to make a contribution but are unable to attend the event. Payment, number of golfers in the group, and mailing address information should be sent to the Antioch Police Department, Golf Outing, 882 Main Street, Antioch, 60002.

Church presents speaker on teen love, Wednesday

Chain of Lakes Community Bible Church is sponsoring a series of Wednesday evening discussions in May with Greg Speck on the topic of "Love, Sex, and Dating."

High school students and incoming freshmen from the area are invited to the church to hear him speak at 7 p.m. The dates are May 12,

May 19, and May 26.

Speck graduated from Bethel College in St. Paul, Minn. He has long worked with young people. He is the founder and past president of Youth Ministries.

Chain of Lakes Community Bible Church is at 23201 West Grass Lake Road. It is on the south side of Grass Lake Rd. east of the Rte. 83 intersection.

St. Peter needs rummage for June sale

This year's 40th Anniversary St. Peter's Rummage sale is now underway. People may donate items starting Monday, June 14, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The committee urges people to clear closets, attics, basements, garages, and homes. Bring it to them.

The sale is Thursday and Friday, June 24 and 25 from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., Saturday, June 26 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sunday, June 27 from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Organizers hope to make the 40th Anniversary Rummage Sale the biggest one they have every held.

Donations are tax deductible. Acceptable donations include: antiques, glassware, knick knacks, bicycles, furniture, clean clothing, jewelry, toys, books, shoes, tools, dishes, linens, exercise and sports equipment, collectibles, pots and pans, kitchen ware, appliances, and air conditioners.

Donations will be accepted until Wednesday, June 23.

LOCAL DIGEST

SWALCO Agreement

Antioch Trustees approved a Memorandum of Understanding with the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County and Waste Management North at the Monday, April 5 village board meeting.

Village approval extends a previous agreement to collect recyclable materials from a special downtown business area. The "Green Zone" is defined by Orchard, Main, and Lake streets, and Hillside Avenue.

"It's a popular program," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug. "Waste Management (North) has agreed to continue this program."

Participating downtown Antioch businesses use common sites for commercial recycling and collection. The village does not issue a franchise for refuse and recycling collection in the Green Zone. The village promotes the use of the program among existing and new businesses.

Shineflug said that there is a substantial tonnage of recycled materials collected through the program. She said that Waste Management North recovers their costs through the recycled materials and reduced landfill use costs.

The agreement will last to Feb. 28, 2002.

Lung Association support

Antioch trustees voted unanimous support for State of Illinois efforts to test diesel truck emissions.

The American Lung Association requested support from the village for State of Illinois House Bill 2031 and Senate Bill 896. The bills are similar to legislation in ten other states that have diesel truck emission testing.

"We're all in a non-attainment area," Mayor Shineflug told village trustees. Air quality in the Lake County area does not meet federal air quality standards due to vehicle exhaust.

Shineflug said that 40 percent of tested trucks do not meet emission testing standards.

Depot Landing

Antioch trustees adopted an ordinance approving a preliminary plat of subdivision for Depot Landing on Monday, May 3.

Director of Planning, Zoning, and Building Robert E. Silhan had told village officials on Monday, April 19 that the property was annexed to the village in 1982 and is zoned R-1 Single Family Residential.

"This is a conventional, non-PUD-type subdivision," he said. It is 19 lots on 10 acres.

The village had requested a name change of proposed Depot Circle to prevent street name confusion for public safety officials. A map amendment letter was received from the Federal Emergency Management Agency regarding flood elevations. A land use easement was recorded on the back 25-feet of the property to protect adjacent land owner concerns. The setback was intended to save as many trees as possible.

Public safety bid

Bids for work on the Public Safety Building at 433 Orchard Street were opened Thursday, April 1.

"We only received two bids," Village Manager Tim Wells told Village Trustees Monday, April 5. "My guess is folks are fairly busy."

Trustees voted unanimously to accept a $72,725 bid by Leo J. Fox Excavating to do underground work and prepare the site for construction. The Antioch Public Works Department was assigned responsibility to clear vegetation and remove a garage on the property.

Unusual harp concert planned

Harpist Greg Buchanan will perform on the rarely heard electronic grand harp at Chain of Lakes Community Bible Church on Sunday, May 16 at 6 p.m.

Buchanan "is a world-class harpist whose aggressive style of playing usually redefines the listener's concept of performance on the harp," according to church member Patti Stagg. He is the first harpist to own and play the electronic grand harp.

This new harp was developed and hand-built by Lyon and Healy, of Chicago, a company for which Buchanan serves as a spokesman.

The electronic grand harp has technical capabilities that permit styles of harp music not previously heard.

Chain of Lakes Community Bible Church is on 23201 Grass Lake Road, just east of the intersection with Route 83.

Tall Ships and Golf, Too

by JIM WARREN,
President, North Star Travel, Inc.

As an avid Great Lakes sailor, I had to be at Navy Pier last year for the start of the Chicago to Mackinac Island race. Only as a spectator, though. I'm not quite ready to enter my 27-foot C&C cruiser in the big race yet.

Since this was the 100-year anniversary celebration of the race, several Tall Ship Schooners were docked at the pier. One, The America, actually participated in the race.

Noticing the popularity of the Tall Ships, I went back to my office to research companies that offer sailings on them.

Windjammer was one such company. Over the years we have sent many happy vacationers on these somewhat unconventional sailings. I was, however, looking for an even more unique Tall Ship Adventure.

I found, ironically, a company called "Tall Ship Adventures," which has taken one of the most elegant of the remaining authentic tall ships, the "Sir Francis Drake" and restored her to meet the needs of the most discriminating tourist. All cabins are air conditioned and have a private bath and shower. The entire interior of the ship has been carpeted and refitted in fine wood paneling. There is a salon which features a full bar, video player and TV.

To expect the luxury of today's cruise ships, however, would be to miss the point of a voyage on a vintage sailing ship. Instead of lunch in the dining room, the chef may quite likely prepare a picnic to be served on a secluded beach. Dinner may be a barbecue under the stars. You're not likely to encounter lines for dinner, since there will be no more than 30 fun-loving sailmates and 14 crew members on the entire ship.

The Sir Francis Drake sails the British Virgin Islands in the winter/spring and from St. Lucia in the summer/fall overnights. Anchorage will be at pristine bays such as Cane Garden Bay, Cooper Island, Jost Van Dyke and Peter Island. Not much shopping or nightlife at these places. Snorkeling, swimming, beachcombing and diving will have to satisfy you during the day, with gazing at, or dancing under, the stars being your nightlife.

This fall, Tall Ship Adventures is offering something very unique for the golf enthusiast. Sailing from St. Lucia to Antigua, the Sir Francis Drake will visit five different tropical Caribbean golf courses on four different islands in one week. There will be plenty for the non-golfers to do, too.

If you like sailing or just want an alternative to the mega cruise ships, a Tall Ship Adventure may be for you.

AUGS Senior Band scores Superior in state contest

By KENNETH PATCHEN
Staff Reporter

Again, Antioch Upper Grade School Senior Band members have been awarded a Superior First Rating for musical performance abilities in State of Illinois band competition.

"Superior First is a rating very seldom given to a band in a state contest," said Principal Debbie Kerr. "Our band has only received it five times in all the time Earl (Bush) has been here."

"It's like a perfect score. It's quite an honor for our kids to achieve that."

Earl Bush is the music director at Antioch Upper Grade School. He took the band to the Illinois Grade School Music Association Northern Division Band Contest on Saturday, March 6 at Hawthorn Junior High School near Vernon Hills, Ill.

"They do this every year," Kerr said.

Earl Bush said, "There were at least 80 participating bands, orchestras, and choruses from this northern Illinois area."

The AUGS Senior Band includes students from grades seven and eight. There are 58 band members. All instruments, except baritone and bassoon, are represented. Members of the band must audition to become part of it. The AUGS Senior Band serves as a competition band and does appearances in the community.

Bush said that there is considerable pride among the members of the band for being part of it.

"To achieve something like this takes a lot of hard work," Bush said of the band members. "This is great for the kids. It is their achievement."

Kerr said that students take participation in the band very seriously. "It's a big commitment and responsibility."

"Our band, our choir, and our fine arts program are a vital part of our curriculum. Band and choir are not required courses, but over half the school participates," Kerr said. "The community values music and those kinds of programs."

"At the middle school, it's important to expose children to all areas of learning and music to promote life-long learning in all areas," Kerr said.

THE CLIPBOARD

Brendan O'Neill

Enough of this us vs. them mentality

Lately, with more and more details of the Columbine tragedy becoming known, high school athletes are coming under fire for harassing other high school kids. In the back pages of the sports section, I have taken the opportunity to address this issue from the sports angle. In my opinion, each side of this tragedy should re-examine itself, and that includes the athletes and coaches involved in the athletic programs on the high school level.

My contention is that while the kids who shot up that high school in Littleton had some serious mental problems, they were probably pushed over the edge by some of the ridicule that was said to be going on at that school. Most reports say that the "jocks" of the school were egging them on and making fun of them at every turn.

Now, I'm all for some good 'ol fashioned ball-busting, but it seems that these athletes went too far—at least in the reports I've read.

And that brings me to my point. I would like to see coaches and school administrators have a bit more active a hand in teaching tolerance, acceptance and normal social skills to athletes.

I'm not talking about devoting entire three-hour practices to "How to act at a party when you're around people who are different than you," but I am for a little positive reinforcement of social norms and acceptance of other people.

For the most part, many of the high school athletes who are predisposed to severe harassment of "geeks" and "nerds" have never really been harassed like that themselves. Many times these "jocks" are, and have always been, part of the "in" crowd.

Generally this harassment is harmless teasing, but my understanding is that it went far beyond that in the case of Columbine.

As a former "jock" myself, I know how affiliation with a school sport can elevate a kid's self-esteem and self-confidence, and usually that yields a confident, well-rounded person. But taken to extremes, it could easily result in an athlete who is so taken with himself, so big-headed and arrogant that he deems those he considers less than himself—a.k.a. nerds.

Sometimes these "jocks" are physically more mature, bigger and stronger than most of the students at a high school, and that fact alone, coupled with a teenager's developing sense of self, can turn into a lack of acceptance and tolerance for non-athletes.

In the end, I'd like to see all sides of this issue take a look at themselves, before pointing the finger at someone else. Athletes are people too, and they have to behave like people. Most do, but some can get out of control and need a little more guidance from coaches and school officials.

I hope area high schools use this tragedy as a chance to improve the existing value systems to better prepare athletes for life after high school.

Sequoits seek consistency

By JOHN PHELPS
Staff Reporter

One of the ingredients in the formula for success is consistency, and that's what the Antioch varsity softball team is finding out.

"Our theme so far this season has pretty much been playing excellent softball at times," said head coach Steve Wapon. "But on the other hand, we've had several breakdowns fundamentally, and I think that's due in part to inexperience."

The Sequoits, who have only two seniors on the squad, upped their record to 5-16, 1-6 (North Suburban) following Tuesday's victory over North Chicago.

Kristen Curran had four hits and five RBIs, Megan Hagglund 3 for 4 with two doubles and three RBIs, and Jamie Knuth 3 for 5 with a home run and four RBIs to lead the offensive attack.

Antioch dropped a doubleheader to NSC rival Warren Monday, losing 12-6 and 11-1.

Carrie Hagglund was 2 for 4 and Melissa Bock 2 for 3 with a double and one run scored in the opener.

Antioch suffered a blow in the opener when shortstop Megs Kotlarz went down with a sprained ankle in the second inning and was sidelined for the rest of the day.

"That made a difference," said Wapon. "Not taking anything away from Warren—they hit the ball very well."

Bock provided the only Sequoits run in the nightcap with her solo blast in the first inning.

Last weekend, Antioch lost three decisions in the Buffalo Grove Tournament.

After falling to host Buffalo Grove, Antioch played well but came up a little short, losing to Loyola, 6-5.

"We played well," said Wapon. "But again, we broke down fundamentally. I don't fault this team for that because we're young. But they sure have a lot of fight in them."

Trailing 5-2 heading into the top of the seventh, Bock blasted a three-run homer, scoring Venissa Taulbee and Kristen Berman, who earlier singled.

Antioch then lost to Highland Park, 3-0, as Kaeleen O'Connell and Abby Thomas each went 2 for 3.

"That was probably one of the better hitting games we've had," said Wapon. "Only thing was, they were mostly right at someone."

The Sequoits host Lake Forest next Tuesday in a 4:30 North Suburban contest.

Lady Rams softball pounds Dundee-Crown 16-2

Davis, Losik key explosion

By JOHN PHELPS
Staff Reporter

The Grayslake varsity softball team avenged Monday's 1-0 loss to Jacobs by taking it out on FVC rival Dundee-Crown the next day.

The Lady Rams used a 10-hit attack in coming away with a 16-2 thrashing in six innings.

Sara Davis adjusted and adjusted well to a slower pitcher, belting a grand slam into right field for her first round-tripper of the season.

The Rams posted five runs in the opening frame and were never threatened. A six-run sixth inning ultimately ended the game due to the slaughter rule.

Meanwhile, pitcher Alison Losik improved to 7-8 on the year after flirting with a no-hitter through four innings. She had to settle for a three-hitter with six strikeouts and just three walks.

Losik also helped her cause by knocking in three runs on the afternoon.

"Alison did a great job," said head coach Phil Mendralla. "She didn't have too many walks. I'm more impressed with that than anything."

Amanda Ball also left the yard as well for Grayslake and Kelly Durkin belted a two-run triple in the sixth. Courtney Lockhart also had an RBI to lead a balanced offensive attack.

The Rams, who improved to 10-1, 5-7 (Fox Valley) play at Wauconda next Monday in a 4:30 FVC contest.

Last Saturday, the Lady Rams fell to visiting Lake Zurich, 5-2, in FVC play. Losing pitcher Losik fanned six and also went 2 for 3 with a run scored. Ball also went 2 for 3 and Bree Richter and Bobbie Rivelli's RBI singles accounted for Grayslake's runs.

Rams baseball

The Ram varsity baseball team got some timely hitting last Saturday in posting a 5-2 victory over Lake Zurich in FVC action.

Mike Beverley, who went 2 for 4, roped an RBI single in the bottom of the fourth inning as Grayslake went up 3-2 and never looked back.

Solid pitching from starter Jeff Norwick, a sophomore, and reliever Alex Frank sealed the win.

Norwick gave up just two hits while walking two and fanning four in 4 1/2 innings of work before Frank came in for the rest of the way in to earn the save.

Matt Ellison was 2 for 3 and Eric Brauer and Keith Hall smacked triples to pace the Rams, now 6-9, 3-6.

ACHS baseball thumps Warren

Clutts fires two-hitter to key sweep

By JOHN PHELPS
Staff Reporter

The Antioch varsity baseball team was winless at 0-4 entering last Saturday's doubleheader with Warren, also 0-4 in league play.

Something had to give and did, and pitcher Brandon Clutts had a lot to do with it.

The junior hurler stifled the Blue Devils in the opener, firing a two-hitter with four strikeouts in earning his first-ever complete game and first shutout of the season, upping his record to 3-0.

The Sequoits (15-9, 2-4) broke open a close game with three runs in the sixth inning and a 5-0 lead.

Clutts helped himself at the plate as well, going 2 for 4 with two RBIs, Nick Kocinski (2 for 4, double, two RBIs), Brian Larie (2 for 4, double), and John Logan (2 for 4) paced the Antioch offense.

In the nightcap, it was pitcher Ken Cichon's turn, firing a two-hitter of his own over 5 innings to improve to 3-2 as the game was called due to the 10-run slaughter rule.

Jason Schuler went 2 for 3 with two RBIs and Brett McCollum belted a double and solo home run as part of a 2 for 3 effort. Larie also added two RBIs.

Antioch travels to Lake Forest Tuesday for a North Suburban clash beginning at 4:30 p.m.

Grayslake youth baseball opens season with bang

By JOHN PHELPS
Staff Reporter

The Grayslake youth baseball program officially began its season Monday, with ceremonial first pitches being thrown out at both Jaycee and Woodview baseball fields in Grayslake.

Grayslake Mayor Pat Carey threw out the first pitch at Jaycee Park off of Rte. 120 in Grayslake, while over at Woodview School, new District 46 Superintendent, Dr. Kurt Anderson, had the honors.

"We couldn't have asked for a better day for this," said Troy Whalen, one of the charter members of the baseball program.

Grayslake is now offering two full in-house baseball leagues for both boys and girls. The 7 and 8-year-old league will be beginning its second season under the Grayslake Park District and has approximately 14 teams comprised of about 175 kids. They will play their home games at Woodview School.

A newly formed 9 & 10-year-old league also kicked off its inaugural season Monday at Jaycee Park. This league has approximately 120 kids and 14 teams.

All teams in the 9 and 10 year old league are sanctioned members of the Little League National Baseball Organization.

"In just a short time, the Park District and several volunteers have worked together in building a quality baseball program for Grayslake," added Whalen.

"We've had excellent financial support from the businesses in the community and parents volunteering their time to coach and help run several aspects of the program."

Whalen said 24 local businesses are slated to sponsor teams, and that there are over 70 coaches, all volunteers.

"It's great," he added. "The cooperation we've received from School District 46, the Park District, the school board—everyone has bent over backwards for us in an effort to help out. The support of the village has been tremendous"

U-9 Blaze lose heart-breaker

The Lindenhurst Boys' U-9 Travel team took a long road trip to Joliet last weekend and came out on the short-end of a 3-2 loss to the home team Tornados. The Blaze had never been in a game last year or this year where they trailed after three quarters. Despite a fourth quarter rally, they just fell short of tying the game as they suffered their first defeat of the year.

Things looked bright in the first quarter when the Blaze scored in the first minute of the game on a pass from Colin O'Malley to Kurt Houghton. The Tornados, though, answered back with a goal of their own two minutes later to knot the score. The Tornados then took the lead late in the quarter when they scored on a low line shot into the left corner. The second quarter was scoreless but the Blaze had the ball on their opponent's half of the field the majority of the time.

The second half saw the Blaze keep up the pressure but it was the Tornados who got the game's third goal when they hit a shot from outside past Chris Church's outstretched hands. In the fourth quarter, the Blaze showed it had the determination to come back as they kept constant pressure on the Tornados goalie. With five minutes gone in the quarter, a throw-in from Kurt Houghton went to Connor O'Keefe who gave the Blaze their final goal.

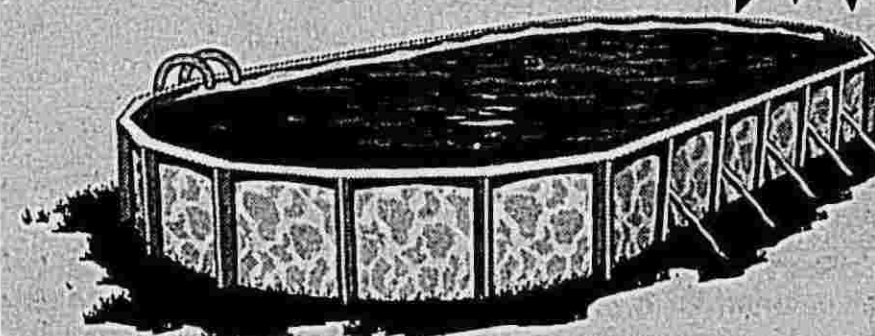

Outstanding defensive play was turned in by Brian Hook, Brian Mooney and Andrew Stein. Offensively, the Blaze were led by Houghton, O'Malley, Kyle Sytsma, and O'Keefe. Goal-keeping duties were shared by Tommy Sewart, Matt Laine, Church, and Stein. The Blaze travels to Bloomington for a night game.

FROM THE SPORTS DESK

Brendan O'Neill
Sports Editor

In the wake of the tragedy at Columbine High School in Littleton, Colorado, much has been made of the rivalry and animosity between the "jocks" and the students that were not in the "A" crowd. This should have school administrators and coaches re-examining their roles as authority figures and mentors to the athletes. Granted, the individuals who committed these acts had problems that went deeper than petty high school name-calling and harassment, but every side of this issue should look at itself and re-evaluate what may have led to such a terrible, destructive conclusion.

High school is a time when children struggle to find themselves as they go through physical and emotional changes. Often, that results in association with a group of friends, based on similar likes, dislikes and experiences.

We've all been there before, and we've seen the clique: the jocks, the nerds, the burn-outs, the popular group, the Goths, the preppies, the greasers, the Jets, the Sharks, etc....

No matter what we call them, we know who they are. It happens in every high school across the nation. But, as far as athletes are concerned, it can go farther than that.

Athletes, and specifically high school athletes, are a very close-knit group. They tend to have very specific, often reachable goals, and they spend an extraordinary amount of time together, working toward those goals.

In addition, high school athletes are treated differently than the average high school student. As a result of their hard work and dedication to their sport, athletes sometimes get preferential treatment from people in and around the school system.

Athletes represent the school and the community on a weekly basis, and often times their success on the playing field translates into social success—it's very common to see athletes in all of the most popular circles.

In a column in the Washington Post regarding an individual high school athlete's take on the Columbine tragedy, the athlete was quoted as saying he couldn't relate to the situation of the two gunmen because he had never been made fun of. That is often the case among athletes. In high school, they are physical "elite," and therefore aren't made fun of in the same way as other students.

All of this leads to one main issue which schools and school officials are overdue in addressing: teaching tolerance and overall social skills to athletes.

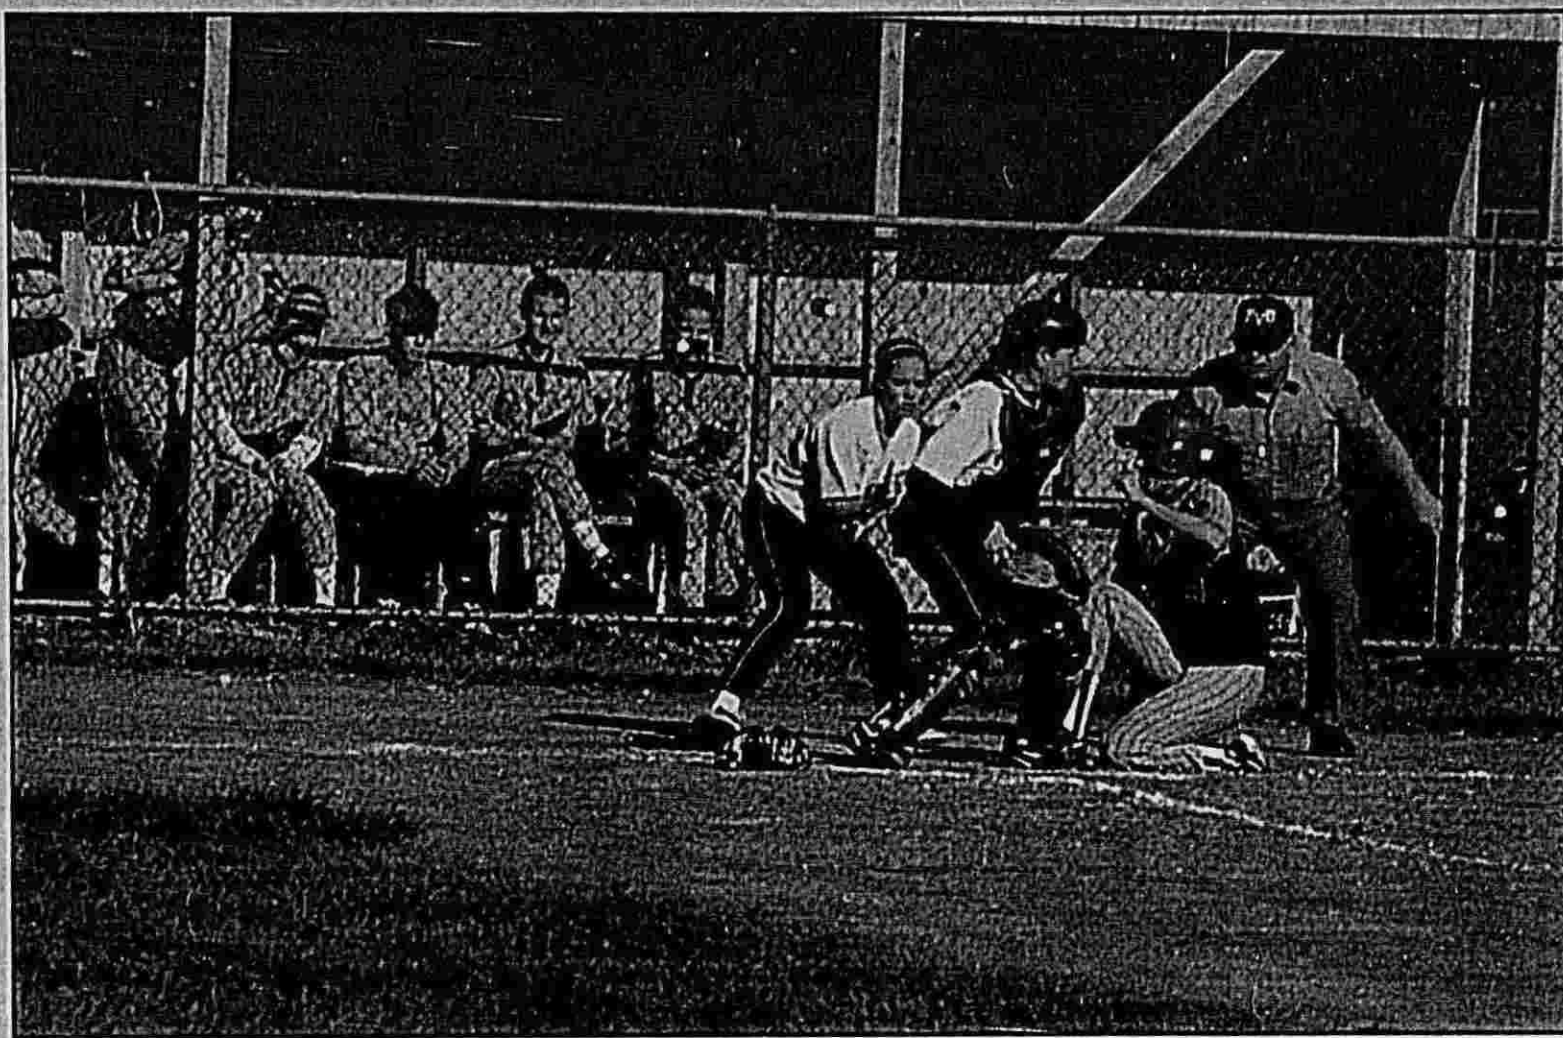

It sounds odd to ask coaches to teach anything outside of Xs and Os, but it's really not something out of left field, so to speak.

Coaches and athletic directors should take a little time to educate athletes in how to deal with different kinds of people, people with alternative lifestyles, and anyone who is different than they are.

Sure, most of this type of social education should come from the family and the home life, but coaches spend so much time with the athletes during the school year that a little reinforcement of tolerance can go a long way.

For example, a high school football player spends nearly 16 hours per week with the football coach and the other players. Chances are that the same football player doesn't spend that much time with his parents during the same five-day time frame.

Kids will be kids, and there will always be cliques within high schools, and some of the jocks will always razz some of the kids in the other cliques, but maybe some extended attention by coaches and school officials can nip it in the bud before it comes to a destructive head.

Turbos battle Elmhurst to 3-3 tie

The Lindenhurst Turbos (Boys U-16) soccer team traveled to Elmhurst and came back with a 3-3 tie. Elmhurst struck first, but the Turbos responded as Jeff Prorock scored on a direct kick from 35 yards. Jason Adams put the Turbos ahead as he took a pass from Kieran Moran between two defenders and scored. Alex Sandberg also assisted on the goal. Elmhurst came back to tie the score, before Sandberg's cross found Michael Wheeler who put the Turbos ahead 3-2.

Elmhurst got the final goal late in the game when one of their players took a pass in the off-sides position and scored. The referee allowed the goal to stand for the 3-3 tie. Goalkeeper Jeremy Witt recorded 18 saves.

Village trustees unanimously approved a statement of understanding with the American Red Cross at their Monday, April 19 village board meeting.

"Our previous agreement to work with them has expired," said Mayor Marilyn Shineflug. The agreement sets forth arrangements for the community and the American Red Cross to work with one another in times of crisis.

Household hazardous waste collection

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug announced that the Solid Waste Agency of Lake County will sponsor household hazardous waste collections this summer.

Collections in this area are scheduled for Saturdays, May 22, June 12, and Aug. 21.

Collection days are an opportunity for people to properly dispose of household chemicals and materials that should not be placed in landfills.

May 22, collections will be taken at the Grant Township Highway Department at 26535 Molitor Road in Ingleside. June 12, collections will be taken at Warren Township High School. August 21, collections will be taken at the Commonwealth Edison Facility at 1500 Franklin Boulevard in Libertyville.

The hours are 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Eligible for the program are: old paint, insecticides, used motor oil, solvents, furniture stripper, hobby chemicals, pool chemicals, metal polishes, paint remover, weed killer, antifreeze, old gasoline, household cleaners, fungicides, and aerosol products.

Not accepted are agricultural chemicals, business and commercial wastes, ammunition, fireworks, propane tanks, lead acid batteries, smoke detectors, fire extinguishers, explosives, and medical wastes.

Interest rate reduction

Village trustees voted unanimously Monday, April 19 to approve an ordinance to reduce the cost of a redevelopment loan for Choosey Child, 891 Main Street. The ordinance will reduce the cost of a downtown business improvement loan from 8.5 percent to 3.5 percent. The cost to the village is $1,359.86.

Choosey Child is owned by Barbara Porch. She was elected a Village Trustee Tuesday, April 13 but had not yet taken her seat on the village board. The interest reduction was recommended by the village redevelopment commission.

Organizers garner support for youth club

Youth for Christ/Campus Life Club seeks support in Gurnee area

By LYNN GUNNARSON DAHLSTROM
Correspondent

Around 150 people gathered at the Warren Township Campus Life kickoff banquet sponsored by North Area Youth For Christ on Friday, April 30 at The Grand Palace Banquet Center (attached to Mings of China Restaurant) in Gurnee.

The banquet gave attendees—and dignitaries including Gurnee Mayor Dick Welton, Warren Township High School Superintendent Dr. Calvin Leader, High School Board President Dr. Russ Schneider, and Dean of Students Jayne Walgren—the chance to learn about Youth For Christ/Campus Life Clubs.

The event also created an awareness for financial support needed to hire a professionally-trained staff person to begin a Campus Life High School Club for students living in and around the Warren Township area this fall.

What is Youth For Christ/Campus Life? After its founding more than 50 years ago by Torrey Johnson and well-known evangelist Dr. Billy Graham, Youth For Christ/Campus Life became a non-profit, non-denominational organization with staff and volunteers who minister to young people around the world through specialized programs that help teenagers find meaning in life.

Weekly meetings during the school year include time for fun, games, skits, videos, music, role plays, refreshments and a discussion of issues such as school, dating, divorce, abuse, sexual choices, parents, loneliness, God, friendships and other areas.

Through additional events such as weekend trips, community service and work projects, camps and conferences with caring adults and peers, students are challenged to think through their values, ethics, goals, and beliefs.

Why are parents and other concerned adults interested in bringing a Youth For Christ/Campus Life Club to the Warren Township area?

Gurnee resident Patti Carlsen said, "I'd like my kids to have a safe place to go and make a connection with a Christian group. I know kids are struggling with things every day. We need positive things for our kids."

Also, of the estimated 3,000 students who will attend high school in Warren Township this fall, only 1,000 of them have ever had at least one contact with a church, according to Joel Honegger, Campus Life Coordinator with North Area Youth For Christ.

"That means more than 2,000 have never set foot in a church. Youth For Christ/Campus Life can bridge that gap," said Honegger.

Former Columbine coach supports Campus Life group

By LYNN GUNNARSON DAHLSTROM
Correspondent

After hearing about the recent tragic killings at Columbine High School in Littleton, Colorado, Gurnee resident Dr. Ann Hawkins-Hood dusted off a plaque students gave her in 1986 after she coached the Columbine High School gymnastics team.

"The plaque says, 'To the coach who took us from a last place team to a first class team.' We came in second at state by two points. They were competitive, but it was more important to have class. That's the quality of kids there at Columbine. It's a school like Carmel (the private Catholic school in Mundelein) but it's public."

Regarding the 70,000 people who came to the memorial service for the students and teacher who were killed, Hawkins-Hood said, "It's really nice that they showed up, but after the fact isn't enough. The thing Columbine showed us is that no one is immune."

She added that, "We know that there was a major problem (for those boys to kill). Let's shut up and find solutions. I think the solution is to get kids involved with a better hero. Kids need a hero who's not Marilyn Manson. And God is a real good choice."

Hawkins-Hood put her words to actions in seeking solutions. She donated money and gathered other sponsors to underwrite a kickoff banquet for those looking to start a Warren Township Campus Life Club this Fall.

Campus Life is a 55 year-old organization co-founded by well-known evangelist Dr. Billy Graham, that ministers to young people around the world through specialized programs that help teenagers find meaning in life.

"I was involved in a non-denominational group (similar to Campus Life) in high school and college, and I turned out pretty good," joked Hawkins-Hood.

The wife and step-mom runs her own company, called, WellCare Dimensions, Inc., a company geared to educate health care executives on the financial, physical, and psychological benefits of keeping people healthy instead of bringing them back to health."

She said, "When you look at the number of un-churched kids in the country, it's sad. God is a positive sign in someone's life no matter how bad something gets."

Hawkins-Hood said that non-threatening, Christian based youth groups like Campus Life give kids a choice to become an educated consumer with how they want to deal with their lives. Plus, "Campus Life can give kids exposure to the Bible that's fun and can meet the needs of their life in a lingo that they can relate to," she said.

YOUTH: Meeting assists kids

Organizers stressed that Youth For Christ/Campus Life is not a church, social work agency, or educational institution, but that the organization works in partnership with these groups to assist youth. One Campus Life brochure says "Campus Life won't tell you which church you should attend—but they'll try to make a good case for the importance of church in your life."

Banquet attendee Donna Elson of Green Oaks said, "Back in the early 1970's, my husband and I had our youngest daughter in a Campus Life group in the Libertyville area. It was wonderful. She had good friends there with good activities. It was a great way to reinforce values we were trying to teach. Parents need all the help they can get. We're here tonight to support the effort to get a Campus Life group here because our grandchildren are in Warren Township."

The whole idea to consider a Youth For Christ/Campus Life Club here came about because Jackie Pointer, a mother from Wildwood called a Lake Zurich friend involved with a Youth For Christ/Campus Life Club and asked, "Why don't they have a club at Warren? Why can't we get one here?"

Pointer was involved in Campus Life when she was in junior high and high school. Because of that, she knew that Youth For Christ/Campus Life was "A group that had values and morals that parents could support. My involvement with Campus Life got me put on the right track," she said.

Pointer added, "Kids have to belong. If you can't provide a group that's helpful and edifying, they'll belong to a group that won't benefit them."

Looking for a way to get the ball rolling for a Warren Township Youth For Christ/Campus Life Club, Pointer contacted North Area Youth For Christ which serves Northern Cook and Lake Counties and has clubs in Maine South, Mt. Prospect-Boxwood, Zion-Benton, Rolling Meadows-East Park and Lake Zurich.

The Littleton, Colorado events show the workings of the teen mind.

Teens can have trouble thinking well of themselves. They need constant encouragement and love. Many young people look up to role models and influences — whether those are good or bad."

As a parent of four sons, Dr. Tom Shirley, Development Director of North Area Youth for Christ, knows that parents need help. "There are plenty of sharks beckoning for a child's attention as they swim from one side of the pool to the other. This is how Campus Life can be a good port in the storm, to help get the teen through the sharks."

He closed his remarks with, "We at Youth For Christ believe that a personal relationship with God for you and teens will help all of you weather these years."

Gurnee Mayor Dick Welton then said, "We have two wonderful Warren Township High School campuses that bring together our township, said Welton. "We think our school system is second to none. I've been told there are 97 extracurricular activities available to Warren students. Things such as Speech, Spanish, Girl's Club, band, etc. You imagine it, we probably have it. You don't have to be an athlete to be involved at Warren."

Welton said that when he was elected mayor in 1973, "We had 12 gas stations and a grocery store. Now we have fewer gas stations, 12 churches and 24 banks and several other businesses. I'm glad to have the churches. They offer programs for children, teens, middle age people and seniors."

He said that although the Warren Township area offers numerous job opportunities, he wanted to see the community offer spiritual opportunities as well.

"We're building our community for young people, but without an organization like Youth For Christ, we're missing an opportunity for young people. Without this type of group, we won't have mature, stable, well-balanced adults so critical for moving things forward in a positive way," he said.

Welton said that students today face challenges through the Internet, movies, and violence at such a young age. "We need to help," he urged. "They need an organization that teaches about things more important than a rock band. I wholeheartedly support an organization like Youth For Christ/Campus Life that will present Christ and a blueprint for life."

THE WILLIAM E. BROOK WINTER RECREATION PROJECT A PART OF THE William E. Brook Memorial

Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center

In April of 1996 the Village of Antioch announced plans for a special project located east of Skidmore Drive. The purpose of the project is to enhance 3.25 acres of wetland on a 6-acre site along Sequoit Creek to promote increased wildlife habitat and provide educational benefits for the residents, tourists and students. This project includes the creation of two ponds, planting of wetland vegetation, creation of a commemorative brick path entrance including berms, planting trees and wild flowers, construction of walking paths and board walks through the wetlands, educational standards, nesting areas for water fowl and a building to be used as an educational and entertainment center.

This special project has since grown into the William E. Brook Memorial Wetland Sanctuary and Entertainment Center. The purpose of the memorial is to honor the life and the legacy of our remarkable citizen, William E. Brook. His love of, and respect for nature continue to inspire us.

The goal is to accomplish this entire project through private donations, in-kind donations, volunteer help and grants. The sale of commemorative bricks for the entrance will help raise money for the overall project. Your brick(s) can become a permanent part of this spectacular project.

'The Shack' attacks Lake County night life

By JOHN KMITTA
Staff Reporter

The cold flat brick exterior, rough gravel parking lot, and overwhelming lack of windows are no indication of what is actually inside "The Shack." Doors on the building that resembles a post office or small warehouse open to reveal a huge wrap-around bar, a corner stage with state of the art lighting, and the wide-open feel of downtown Chicago warehouse-style dance clubs.

The Shack, which opened its doors on April 23, is located in Evanston just off of Route 60/83 behind Crossroads.

The building may resemble more of an American Legion Hall than the newest club on the Lake County club scene, but that is for good reason.

"It used to be a Legion Hall," said owner Jack Bowes, who also owns Crossroads and Emil's.

More than a year ago the American Legion was looking to sell the building, and the owners came to Bowes, and his brothers, Bob and Tim.

The brothers took a chance and purchased the building, with no idea what it could be used for.

What they saw was a lack of quality night clubs in Lake County, so they decided to gut the entire building and renovate it into what is now The Shack.

They removed sheets of old paneling and removed a drop ceiling to open up the room to the exposed ceiling.

He removed the original bar and replaced it with a square bar that seats 40.

The bar is the key element in the room, other than the stage, so Bowes said he wanted to do something different than most other area bars.

Most bars in the local clubs are small, with dozens of people attempting to crowd up to a small area just to order a drink.

Bowes said with The Shack he wanted to open up the seating and dance areas to provide a full, un-obstructed view of the stage.

What goes on the stage is what Bowes said he hopes will appeal to a wide variety of music enthusiasts.

"We are going to have an emphasis on Blues," he said.

But that will not be the only style of music playing.

In addition to Blues musicians, The Shack has booked a swing band, and a reggae band.

Bowes said he wants the focus to be not so much on type of music, but the quality of music.

"What's nice about this is it is a lot of fun," Bowes said of owning a night club.

He said the music and atmosphere are diverse enough to appeal to people from age 24 to 60, he said.

With the resurgence of Swing and Big Band, the music spans generations, Bowes said.

The entire renovation took a year, but Bowes said it could have been completed in two months if he would have pushed it.

Owning two other businesses and working on opening a night club takes a lot of time, Bowes said.

Emil's has been in business for 20 years and Crossroads for 13 years.

In addition to devoting a large part of his time to the businesses, Bowes, a Grayslake-area resident, spends his time raising cattle and hogs, he said.

Balancing everything is a challenge, but Bowes said he gets a tremendous amount of help from his wife.

Bowes said despite the proximity of The Shack and Crossroads, the two businesses will have a positive impact on each other.

People can go to dinner at Crossroads and then listen to quality live music at The Shack, he said.

The Shack is currently only open on weekends with new bands booked for every night.

Bowes said he has looked at the bookings of many Chicago-area clubs and most are not able to get the quality of line-up that he has been able to book for The Shack.

May 7 will feature the live music of "Paul Cebal and the Milwaukeeans."

On Fridays the club is open from 4 p.m. to 3 a.m., and on Saturdays the club is open

Volunteers needed for education programs

The Lake County Forest Preserve District is looking for a few good volunteers. Volunteer opportunities are available to everyone no matter what your interest or ability. We have an immediate need for enthusiastic people to fill the following volunteer positions:

- Ryerson Woods Docent: Greet visitors and guide them through the nature exhibits at the Ryerson Woods Exhibit Cabin on the Des Plaines River at Ryerson Woods near Deerfield. Two four-hour shifts per month requested, week-ends.

- Canoe Aide: Assist American Canoe Association Certified Instructor with "Learn to Canoe" classes. Certification examination prep materials and training provided. We ask for a one class per month commitment, week-ends from mid April through mid October.

As a volunteer, you'll get to know staff and others who share your interests, and get an intimate inside look at your Lake County Forest Preserves. And, you'll receive invitations to Forest Preserve special events and discounts on programs for the public. But most of all, you'll receive the reward of knowing you've made a contribution to your community - now and for the future!

Your help is needed. Volunteer today. For more information on volunteer opportunities or to receive a Lake County Forest Preserve Volunteer application, please call Mark Hurley, Volunteer Coordinator, at 948-7753 x215.

'THE SHACK': Chicago-style club comes to Lake County

from 6 p.m. to 3 a.m.

With liquor laws to be changing soon the club will eventually be open only until 2 a.m.

Bowes said the club has a huge kitchen and will soon be serving food.

There is also a big screen television, with another one on the way. "We get all of the sports coverage," Bowes said.

There are also two pool tables, and Bowes said he is looking into purchasing dart boards to round out the diverse atmosphere.

With a combination of Chicago-style club scene, blues, and sports bar, The Shack looks to change the Lake County night club scene.

Attention kids: Free poems for Mother's Day

While Hallmark creates a wide variety of beautiful and eloquent Mother's Day cards, I have to admit that what really chokes me up as a Mom is a homemade card from my child.

Though the pictures are crudely drawn, and the poetry is less than poetic, the words themselves are so much more honest, more heartfelt, and often funny.

And I'll bet that most Moms would agree. So, kids, get to work and make Mom a card. Or, if you're really desperate, you can borrow one of these:

For the confused kid:
WHY I LOVE MY MOM

Dear Mom,
How do I love thee? Let me count the ways:

I love it when you let me stay up late.

Oh...never mind, that's Billy's mother, Kate.

I love it when you drive us to the show

Oh...never mind, that's Jimmy's mother, Flo.

I love it when you cook me "Coq au vin"

Oh...never mind, that's Eric's mother, Lynn.

Well, anyway, whatever it is you do is probably the reason I love you!

For the over-21 freeloader kid:
A MOTHER BY ANY OTHER NAME

Hooray for the woman named Mother

I love her like nobody other

I'll never move out

LIFE'S A BEAR

Donna Abear

Life's good here, no doubt
And she don't charge me rent like my brother!

For the sloppy kid:

M-O-T-H-E-R

M is for the many times she told me "Oh, my God! You call this mess a room?!"

T is for the thousand times she said it

H is how she chased me with a broom.

"Eek!" is what she screamed when she was in there

R is for the rancid food she found

Put it all together, it spells "Mother"

If you like nagging, she's the best around.

For the charming, but cheap kid:
MY MOTHER, MY FRIEND

If I could afford it

My mother, my friend,

I'd buy you a rainbow

That never would end

I'd give you the moon

Grab some stars just for fun

Oh, heck, while I'm at it

I'd give you the sun

But you know I work at McDonald's for pennies.

So as for your gifts,

I could not afford any.

But remember this, Mom

While I am alive

I'll love you forever!

So...can you lend me five?

Questions or comments for humorist Donna Abear can be sent to P.O. Box 391, Antioch, IL 60002.

'Memoirs of a Geisha' at library

On Thursday, May 9, at 7 p.m., Barbara Rinella, who specializes in living literature programs, will illuminate the social canvas of a vanished world through a portrayal of the main character of Arthur Golden's New York Times best-seller, "Memoirs of a Geisha." Ms. Rinella's portrayal will explore pre-World War II and postwar Japanese culture.

A former high school teacher, for the past 20 years Barbara Rinella has performed at various venues in the Chicago metro area. Each year she adds five new books to her repertoire. One day she might be Barbara Bush, Eleanor Roosevelt, or Pamela Harriman. On another day she might portray Harry Truman, Frank Lloyd Wright, or the main character from the novel "Snow Falling on Cedars," by David Guterson.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Chocoholics Unite!

Burlington, Wisconsin's ChocolateFestival will be May 14-16. The Festival, nationally known, is in its second decade providing top-notch entertainment, a carnival and pounds of chocolate! The event is the first major festival of the year in Wisconsin and draws over 100,000 people. The menu of entertainment choices is delectable.

This year, Billy Ray Cyrus will be the mainstage act appearing on Saturday evening. Billy Ray is best known for his hit, "Achy Breaky Heart" but now has a hit album, "Shot Full of Love" and single, "Busy Man" rising the country charts rapidly. Tickets are available through all Ticketmaster outlets. Call (414) 276-4545 for the nearest location.

If that weren't enough, on Friday, event planners have contracted with the world-renowned Bartolotta family to put on a spectacular fireworks display. The show will be the largest prior to Milwaukee's downtown Fourth of July fireworks. The fireworks will be best seen and "heard" from inside the Festival grounds in the mainstage area as the display will be choreographed to "surround-sound" music. Runzheimer International, well known in the field of consumer research throughout the World, and locally based in Rochester, Wisconsin has agreed to donate the funds to support the cost of the entire fireworks show.

Blomness All Star Amusements will provide a carnival featuring over 30 exciting rides and games suitable for all ages beginning Friday evening at 5 p.m. midnight Friday and Saturday nights.

Beginning Saturday, the confirmed lineup of events includes: Lumberjack Show, "Art in the Garden" at Echo Lake Veterans Memorial Park, Trough Trout Fishing, Great Little Bear Show, Chainsaw Carving, Win Your Weight in Chocolate, Miss ChocolateFest, Southshore Chicago Drill Team, Hot Air Balloon Rides, Bicycle Race, Youth Talent show, Chocolate "Chef's Tent" Featuring Chef's from all over, Nestle's Chocolate Creation - a chocolate totem pole carved on-site.

For more information about events and tickets contact the ChocolateFestival "hotline" at (414) 763-3300. Advance tickets are $1 less per ticket. Regular gate prices are $6 for people age 12 years and older. For children 3 to 12 years, the price is $3. Toddlers are free.

SPECIAL EVENT

Plant sale May 8

The spring plant sale offered by the Gardeners of Central Lake County will be on Saturday, May 8, from 8:30 a.m. to noon, rain or shine.

The club offers mature perennials dug from local gardens in addition to annual flowers and vegetables started by members and all at reasonable prices. Proceeds benefit club projects including the rose garden in Cook Park, community garden plots and an annual flower and vegetable show.

The Garden Sale is held outside the United Methodist Church, at the corner of Brainerd and Church Streets, near Cook Library in downtown Libertyville. For additional information, call Susan at 816-8007 or Norm at 548-2454.

Craft or Rummage Sale seekers

The 14th annual rummage sale will be held by the Sophisticated Ladies Grandmothers Club Charter 958 of Wauconda on May 13, Thursday, 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. and May 14, Friday, from 8 a.m. to noon, at the Wauconda Township Hall, 505 Bonner Road, Wauconda.

Proceeds will once again benefit many of the local charities including Wauconda Intervention Contact, our In town charity; Wauconda Food Pantry; Christmas gifts for Wauconda Care Center; donation to the Alex Paris Fund; as well as Heartsprings the national charity of the National Federation of Grandmother Clubs of America.

NATURE

Bird Walk at Volo Bog

Join Volo Bog Volunteer Marv Schwartz in search of migrating ducks, sandhill cranes, returning herons, bitterns, kingfishers and other birds. Dress for the weather, bring binoculars and field guides or borrow from Volo Bog. Ages 7 to adult are welcome.

Art Garfunkel takes center stage at The Hemmens

Art Garfunkel will evoke memories on Saturday, May 22 at 8 p.m. at The Hemmens Cultural Center when he and his five-piece band perform such songs as The Sound of Silence, Scarborough Fair, Mrs. Robinson, and Homeward Bound.

Although it's 25 years since Bridge Over Troubled Water, by Simon and Garfunkel, Garfunkel's image and signature vocal remain among the most instantly recognizable in popular music.

"There is a dialogue," Garfunkel says, "between performer and audience. You say things to each other over the years. From my side, in my singing, I express what's going on with me."

Garfunkel began performing early by singing Everly Brothers songs at school talent shows with a partner, Paul Simon, from his neighborhood in Queens, N.Y.

In 1957, they landed a recording contract when they were high school seniors. Soon afterwards, Garfunkel went to college, earning a Bachelor of Arts degree at Columbia College then a Masters degree in Architecture at Columbia University. However, he never stopped singing, and in 1962 Simon and Garfunkel got together again.

From 1964 to 1970 they recorded a string of classic albums: Sound of Silence; Parsley, Sage, Rosemary and Thyme; The Graduate; and Bridge Over Troubled Waters, among others. Their hit songs are also legendary such as "Cecilia," "El Condor Pasa," "I Am A Rock," "At The Zoo." The duo won five Grammy Awards. The duo parted company in 1970, as they first came together and remain close friends.

Garfunkel went on to the acting roles in the films Catch-22 and Carnal Knowledge and began an extensive international touring schedule, singing the classic Simon and Garfunkel songs along with his own compositions.

The concert will be held on Saturday, May 22 at 8 p.m. Tickets are $52 main floor, $50 balcony and $75 Golden Circle. Call the Hemmens' 24 hour Charge It Line 931-5900 or purchase tickets at The Hemmens Cultural Center in Elgin's downtown Civic Center. Box office hours are Monday through Friday 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturday, noon to 4 p.m.

Billy Ray Cyrus will appear at ChocolateFestival May 15

Billy Ray Cyrus will be headlining at this year's ChocolateFestival on Saturday, May 15. ChocolateFestival is on its second decade providing top-notch entertainment, a carnival, and pounds of chocolate, including a huge chocolate "creation" provided by the Nestle Corporation. Burlington, Wisconsin from Friday, May 14 through Sunday, May 16 hosts the nationally known Festival.

Best known for his hit single, "Achy Breaky Heart" and now for his current top ten hit, "Busy Man," Billy Ray Cyrus' popularity continues to grow with every song. His "Shot Full of Love" album is currently climbing the country chart. Billy Ray has appeared recently on "Entertainment Tonight," "The New Love Boat," "Access Hollywood," and the "Donny and Marie Show." Cyrus' song, "The American Dream," was chosen as the theme song of a TBS documentary about the American bald eagle.

Tickets for the main stage event will go on sale on Monday, April 5, at area ticketmaster outlets, including Boston Store, select Piggly Wiggly stores, Mainstream records and Disc Man stores. Tickets can be purchased by telephone at (414) 276-4545 or on the Internet at www.ticketmaster.com. General seating will be $9, and preferred seating will be $14. All prices do not include the price of general admission, which will be $6.

A Class in videotaping, editing at Gorton

A class titled "Camcorder Videotaping and Editing" will be offered at Gorton Community Center, 400 East Illinois Road, Lake Forest. Classes will be held on Thursday, May 20 from 7-10 p.m. or Tuesday, June 22, from 1-4 p.m. The fee is $30.

Students will learn to make videos more enjoyable to watch with tips, tricks, and other useful information from professional videographer Bruce Himmelblau. Participants will learn how to hook up a camcorder for duplication and editing, and how to buy and use accessories such as microphones, lights, and tripods.

Bruce Himmelblau is the owner of Blue Sky Video Productions, a local production company. Since 1986, he has produced videos for special events, school events, school plays, sporting events, corporate communications, and concerts. He has also produced videos for television and cable, and has worked with a number of noted celebrities and corporations.

Interested participants should register and pay in advance. For further information, or to receive a program brochure, contact or stop by the Gorton office at 234-6060 between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

The Grand Geneva Resort & Spa will offer its traditional Mother's Day Brunch on Sunday, May 9. According to Steve Magnuson, the resort's vice president & managing director, this very special brunch is a perfect way to treat mom in "grand style."

Mother's Day Brunch will be served from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Grand Cafe, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Newport Grill (parties of seven or less) and in the Grand Ballroom (parties of eight or more). Among the distinctive menu items are displays of cheese, pates and vegetable terrines with cornichons; carving stations featuring prime rib of beef with provencal herb crust, wild mushrooms au jus and roasted basil-lemon chicken with chardonnay sauce; baked salmon with artichokes and leeks; roast breast of veal stuffed with spinach mousse and omelettes, waffles and crepe blintzes.

An assortment of desserts will include assorted miniature pastry display, hazelnut mousse cake, walnut caramel tortes, spring fruit strudels, strawberry napoleon, almond tea cake and strips of fresh fruit and berries.

The price is $22.95 for ages 13 and up, $12.50 for ages 6-12, and complimentary for children under 5 when accompanied by a paying adult. All moms will receive a handmade French Lavender Sachet, a special gift, courtesy of the resort. Reservations are required and can be made by calling the restaurant reservation line (414) 249-4788.

The Grand Geneva Resort & Spa is located at the junction of Hwy. 50 and 12, just outside downtown Lake Geneva. The resort is within 90 minutes of Chicago and 60 minutes of Milwaukee, by car. For reservations and information, call 800-558-3417 or (414) 248-8811 or visit the Grand Geneva web site at <http://www.grandgeneva.com>.

Floral trends & consumer tips for Mother's Day

This Mother's Day, will you be buying your flowers direct from the farm or direct from the flower shop? Did you know you had a choice? A new trend in the floral industry allows the consumer to buy cut flowers directly from growers, in addition to the traditional florist. But most buyers aren't aware that the products coming from these two groups are very different.

While flowers that are ordered from florists are usually for gifting, flowers from growers are mostly for self-consumption, for the true floral enthusiast. That's because flowers shipped directly from most growers are usually sent without any prepping, meaning the recipient will have to strip foliage, de-thorn, cut the stem ends, arrange in a vase, etc.

Now, a handful of companies are offering both services. 1-800-FLOWERS, for example, offers fresh and unique floral items delivered from a florist or from the finest growers across the U.S. and around the world that will arrive conditioned and prepped. So consumers now have a choice to send or receive fresh flowers expertly arranged or fresh stems that they can arrange themselves. Which is the best choice for you and your mom? It will depend on your budget, your delivery time, and your mother's knowledge of flower care.

Price: Flowers shipped directly from the grower cut out the middleman so the savings are passed on to you, the consumer. But remember that most growers send flowers that have not been prepped, so your mom will have to do all the work.

Florist prices are slightly higher because, in addition to the ensured quality of the product, you are receiving professional design, with a creative mix of floral varieties, attractive and unique containers, and special touches such as filler flowers and greens.

Delivery: Most florists offer same day delivery. Growers cannot accommodate same day delivery.

The flowers will most likely be shipped via overnight courier and arrive as early as 10 a.m. the next day. Regardless if you're working with a florist or a grower, the key is to order early in the day. And don't forget, Mother's Day is Sunday, May 9th.

Birding trip to Horicon Marsh offered by Lake County Forest Preserves

Spend Memorial Day weekend birding at the world's largest freshwater marsh with a trip hosted by your Lake County Forest Preserves.

The trip includes overnight stay at a nearby motel, breakfast, a guided pontoon ride into the marsh and other guided birding activities. Participants are likely to encounter cranes, herons, egrets and other marsh birds.

Known as "The everglades of the North," Horicon Marsh's 32,000 acres are home to over 260 species of birds. The northern two-thirds of the marsh is owned and managed by the federal government as the Horicon National Wildlife Refuge. The southern third, the Horicon Marsh Wildlife Area, is owned and operated by the state of Wisconsin and is open to the public.

Horicon Marsh is located roughly one hour north and west of Milwaukee. The group will meet at the Edgewater Motel in Horicon, Wisconsin at 5:30 p.m., Saturday, May 29, and will depart for home on Sunday, May 30. Transportation to and from Horicon is not included. The cost is $124 ($99 Lake County residents) and includes hotel, breakfast, snacks and transportation within Horicon Marsh. Open to adults only. Registration and pre-payment is required by April 29, 1999. Call the Lake County Forest Preserves at 948-7750 with questions or to register.

'Creative Memories' workshop to be held at Gorton

Lake Forest resident and Creative Memories Consultant Valerie Linehan will conduct a workshop on creative photo albums and photograph organization at Gorton Community Center, 400 East Illinois Road, Lake Forest. The session will be held on Saturday, May 22 from 9-11:30 a.m. or Wednesday, June 16, from 7-9:30 p.m. The fee is $20.

Students will learn how to assemble a safe and original photograph display for friends or family members, or to memorialize a special occasion. Bring a pair of scissors and 8-10 photographs. All other materials will be supplied or available for purchase.

Interested participants should register and pay in advance. For further information, or to receive a program brochure, contact or stop by the Gorton office at 234-6060 between 9 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., weekdays.

Art 1999 Chicago held at Navy Pier

Exhibition of world class works of art through May 11

The eyes of the art world will be on Chicago from Friday, May 7 to Tuesday, May 11 for Thomas Blackman Associates' presentation of Art 1999 Chicago. This seventh annual art exposition features the works of over 2,100 contemporary artists showcased by over 200 galleries representing 25 countries and 21 U.S. Cities.

America's most comprehensive compilation of modern and contemporary works from around the globe, Art 1999 Chicago includes a variety of artistic styles and media from painting, sculpture, photography and printmaking to drawing, video, installation and mixed media. The windy city's international contemporary art fair utilizes the 165,000 square feet of exhibition space in historic Navy Pier's Festival Hall, 600 E. Grand Ave., Chicago.

Art 1999 Chicago anticipates 40,000 art enthusiasts this year, including a diverse international group of private collectors, museums and foundation curators. Art patrons from Chicago and around the world come to see the works of such renowned 20th century artists as Willem de Kooning, David Hockney, Andy Warhol, Jeff Koons, Louise Bourgeois and Joseph Beuys as well as a chance to get a glance at the upcoming artists of today. With prices ranging from $100 for limited edition prints to more than $1 million for a single piece of work, Art 1999 Chicago offers works for new and experienced collectors alike. This year's sales are expected to top last year's $40 million mark by 10 to 15 percent.

The show is open Friday, May 7 through Monday, May 10 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. and on Tuesday, May 11 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tickets are $10 for general admission, $7 for students, seniors and groups, and children under age 10 are free. Call (312)587-3300 for more information, or visit the web site at <http://www.artchicago.com>.

"Allegiance with Wakefulness," a silver gelatin print by Shirin Neshat. Presented at Art 1999 Chicago by Patrick Painter Gallery of Santa Monica, California. The show will be held at Navy Pier, May 7-11.

'Aladdin' closes season for Northbrook Musical Theatre

The Northbrook Musical Theatre for Young Audiences is pleased to announce the opening of "Aladdin - A Flying Carpet Musical" a new adaptation of the famous tale from "A Thousand and One Arabian Nights." The show will run April 17 through May 29 at Northbrook Theatre, 3323 Walters Av., Northbrook. Regular Saturday performances are at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Weekday performances are by arrangement for schools and similar groups on Tuesdays and Thursdays, through May 27, at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Performances are approximately 1 hour long. Advanced ticket sales may be purchased by phone at 291-2367 for $5 per person. Tickets bought at the door are $6. Group rates are available.

Memorial Fund established at Gorton

A special fund to be designated to the Lake Forest Children's Drop-In Center has been established in memory of Alice Davidson at Gorton Community Center, 400 East Illinois Road, Lake Forest.

Alice Davidson, of Lake Forest, died suddenly of a brain aneurysm on March 29 while vacationing with her family. Mrs. Davidson was a teacher's assistant at the Lake Forest Children's Drop-In Center from 1986 to 1999, where she cared for infants and toddlers five days a week. A woman who always enjoyed working with children, especially the very young.

Contributions may be directed to the Alice Myers Davidson Memorial Fund in care of The Gorton Foundation, Inc., 400 East Illinois Road, Lake Forest, Illinois, 60045. For further information, please call the Gorton office at 234-6060.

Aries - March 21/April 20

Think before you speak when you're with a co-worker early in the week. Revealing confidential information only will make him or her upset and get you into a lot of trouble with your superiors. A good friend comes to your rescue on Friday. Show your appreciation. Leo plays a key role.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

Don't get upset when something doesn't turn out the way that you want it to this week, Taurus. Just roll with the punches, and keep working toward your goal. That special someone asks you an important question. Word your answer carefully, because he or she can misinterpret what you say.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

Don't let a minor mishap at work distract you. The problem isn't your fault, and you don't have to get involved in finding a solution. Just continue with your tasks, and you will make definite progress. A loved one needs romantic advice. Be there for him or her.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

You have to stay in control of your emotions this week, Cancer, if you want to make any headway in your personal life. Loved ones tell you things that upset you, but try not to act on your feelings. You'll only hurt yourself and those closest to you if you do. Scorpio plays an important role on Thursday.

Leo - July 23/August 23

A good friend needs you early in the week, Leo. Do whatever you can to help him or her. Your efforts will be appreciated. A business associate reveals his or her true feelings for you. Don't respond impulsively; think about how you truly feel before answering. Most importantly, be honest.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

You have a lot going on this week, Virgo. Try to stay organized. It's the only way that you'll get anything done. Those around you will be impressed with your efforts. The person whom you've been seeing wants to intensify the relationship. Say yes, because you know that this is what you've always wanted.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Don't let a business associate sway your opinion when it comes to making a decision on Wednesday. You have to do what is best for you. Look at all of the pros and cons, and consider how your choice will affect things. Turn to a loved one for advice if you need it. He or she will be honest with you.

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

Don't regret a choice that you made last week. You did what was best for everyone involved. Stop looking back; it's time to focus on the future. Set your goals. You can achieve them if you work diligently. A good friend needs to talk with you. Be there for him or her.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

An acquaintance challenges you early in the week, Sagittarius. Don't back down. You know that you are right; stand your ground. Those close to you will support you. That special someone has a surprise for you on Friday. Enjoy yourself, because you deserve it.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

Opportunity is knocking on your door this week, Capricorn. You are presented with an excellent chance to enhance your financial situation. Don't let this slip away. A loved one needs your advice about a family matter. While you want to help, don't. Your input only will make matters worse.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't bite off more than you can chew this week. A lot of people are asking for your help, but there only is so much that you can do. Try to aid those who are most in need. The others can take care of themselves. A friend of a friend reveals his or her true feelings for you. While you are flattered, don't get involved with him or her.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

You have a relaxing week ahead of you, Pisces. Take some time to pamper yourself; do those things that you enjoy, but never have time for. This is your chance to concentrate on yourself — not on everyone else.

'Entrapment' gets caught up in its own devices

International intrigue, high-tech gadgets, a beautiful woman, and Sean Connery. No, it is not a James Bond film, it is the crime caper thriller "Entrapment."

The film starts off with a slick, well-planned heist of a Rembrandt painting from a high security skyscraper.

From there, however, "Entrapment" fails to capture a strong storyline.

Following the initial heist, a sexy, smart insurance investigator named Gin (Catherine Zeta-Jones) is put on the job to find out who has stolen the painting.

She has her theory on who the thief is. A mysteriously wealthy man named MacDougal (Connery) who Gin has been following for several years as the suspect of multiple unsolved thefts.

Gin convinces her boss to go undercover and follow MacDougal in an attempt to catch him in the act.

The game of cat and mouse never really materializes as the cat is quickly spotted by the mouse.

With her cover blown, Gin convinces MacDougal she is a thief who wants to work with him on a nearly impossible theft.

Catherine Zeta-Jones stars with Sean Connery in the crime caper thriller "Entrapment."

All of the robberies in "Entrapment" are intricately planned and fun to watch.

The premise for the final theft is ingenious, but loses its impact with the drawn-out lackluster ending that follows.

There are plenty of plot twists in "Entrapment," but like the short-lived cat and mouse chase, they come too quickly and seem forced and contrived.

Plot twists for the sake of having plot twists are not always a good thing, and in "Entrapment" they eventually destroy much of the premise on which the film is initially built.

Connery and Zeta-Jones are both strong on-screen personalities and carry the movie with their exuberance.

The two work extremely well together during the first half of the film when MacDougal is schooling Gin on the fine arts of high-stakes heists.

As mentor and student the pairing works very well, but as the film wears on and a romance between the two develops—which strains the story.

Although it is not impossible for a 28-year-old woman to fall in love with a 68-year-old debonair millionaire, "Entrapment" seems trapped by the age difference.

It seems as though the filmmakers could not decide if there should be romance in the air for the two main characters, with MacDougal shunning most of Gin's advancements.

When the romance does develop it detracts from the film by making Gin seem like a little girl with a crush.

All of this detracts from the strong points of the film, the robberies.

The tense situations make Mission: Impossible look easy.

Three well written robberies, however, do not alone make a strong film.

"Entrapment" snares viewers early with a great beginning and solid acting, but eventually traps itself with too many plot twists and a dull ending.

For having its fun-to-watch moments, but failing to capture its full potential, I give "Entrapment" three out of five popcorn buckets.

A new dining 'Spot' in Antioch

X-celence marks "The Spot," a new fine dining place and sports bar located at 26375 W. Route 173 in Antioch.

Owner Jamie Polec invites everyone to try his delectable cuisine and enjoy a game of pool or darts at the sports bar, open for your entertainment seven days and nights a week.

The expert staff of The Spot Bar and Grill, urges you to try one or all of their delicious All-You-Can-Eat dinner entrees, as well as the mouth watering items that fill the Sunday Breakfast Buffet.

If it's succulent seafood you yearn for, try the all-you-can-eat crab legs, shrimp and walleye combo for $16.95, or the all-you-can-eat Friday Fish Fry at $5.95. Start your week right by bringing the entire family to the all-you-can-eat Sunday Breakfast Buffet, served from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. for $3.99. Two kinds of scrambled eggs, ham off the bone, biscuits and gravy, sausage, bacon, French toast, pancakes, etc. more than fill the breakfast bill.

The attractive purple and green dining room is open for breakfast and lunch Sunday through Saturday and also for dinner on Friday and Saturday. The Sports Bar is open until midnight, Sunday through Thursday and until 3 a.m. on Friday and Saturday. For more information, call (847) 395-1707.

Mutual fund costs decline, more proof they're a good buy

Smart investors have always known mutual funds are a good buy. Now there's proof.

A study published by the Investment Company Institute (ICI) found that the total cost of investing in equity (stock) mutual funds decreased by more than a third from 1980 to 1997. According to the study, the average cost of investing in equity funds declined from 2.25 percent of each dollar invested in 1980 to 1.49 percent in 1997.

The figures reflect total shareholder cost, which is the cost an investor should expect to incur in purchasing and holding mutual fund shares. It includes not only sales loads but also operating expenses and 12b-1 fees, and is comparable to the fee information required in every mutual fund prospectus.

Most other analyses of the costs of mutual fund ownership do not incorporate all of these expenses. Total shareholder cost comes closest to capturing real investor cost. Even "no-load" mutual funds have expenses, and these costs affect shareholders' returns.

The ICI study also found that large mutual funds had substantially lower operating expenses than small funds. In addition, the 100 largest funds in 1997 that also existed in 1980 experienced rapid growth and falling operating expense ratios between 1980 and 1997. Among these 100 funds, those that grew most posted the largest reductions in operating expense ratios. This suggests that investors tend to concentrate their purchases among lower-cost equity funds. In fact, previous ICI research determined that 77 percent of shareholders' equity fund accounts are in mutual funds that charge an-

What does all this mean to you? For one, bigger may be better in mutual funds — meaning the larger funds may be less expensive to own. And second, "no-load" does not necessarily mean "no cost." If you have previously focused your attention only on sales charges, now you know that there are other expenses that make up total shareholder cost — and these expenses affect your return.

In other words, don't expect a free lunch from a no-load. You could be the one stuck with the tab.

Edelman & Combs sues seventeen high-interest lenders

The Chicago law firm of Edelman & Combs, which concentrates in representation of consumers against lenders, car dealers, debt collectors, and other businesses, has filed more class action lawsuits in the federal district court in Chicago against high-interest "payday loan," "title loan," and similar establishments. The total number sued is now 17.

The list of high-interest lenders sued, and the annual percentage rates charged by each, are:

American Loan Company	521%
Americash	365%
Campus Cash Systems	469%
Cash Store	521%
Chartwell

Financial	427%
Check Into Cash	573%
Fast Cash Advance	365%-456%
GFG Loan Company	365%
Illinois Title Lenders	216%
Instant Cash Advance (One Iron Ventures)	468%-912%
Nationwide Budget Finance	521%
Paycheck Advance Express, Inc.	456%-521%
Payday Check Advance, Inc., d/b/a Payday Express	521%
Payday Loan Corp. of Illinois	101%

Payday Loan Store of Illinois, Inc.	695%
Payday Today Loan LLC	521%
Short Term Loans	260%-342%

"Payday Loans" are short term, very high interest rate loans. The loans are typically two weeks in duration and carry annual percentage rates of 200% to over 1800%. At the end of the two week term, the customer has the option of continuing the loan for an additional period by paying the interest. The loans are typically "rolled over" on multiple occasions.

Generally, companies which make "payday Loans cost $x per $100. The consumer does not see the annual percentage rate until he or she is presented with the check.

"Payday Loans" are generally made to consumers facing financial emergencies. Once a consumer obtains a "payday loan," he or she will often be unable to pay it off except from the proceeds of additional "payday loans." Often, the "payday loan" store is the last stop prior to bankruptcy court.

The lawsuits generally allege violation of the Truth in Lending Act or Electronic Funds Transfer Act. In some cases, they allege that the interest rates are so exorbitant that the loans are unconscionable and violation of laws regulating wage assignments and collection practices. Some of the lawsuits name individual owners of the payday loan establishments and lawyers who try to enforce the loans.

Payday Today Loans and Short Term Loans have already agreed to settlements.

A healthy spine makes you feel fine

If you think that "Orthogonal" has something to do with straightening your teeth, you're going to learn a little bit as you read on. Orthogonal, by definition, is "having to do with or involving right angles, intersecting at right angles, mutually perpendicular". If that sounds as if it belongs on a page in Einstein's diary, it can be explained more simply. The spine needs to line up properly, in order to be healthy, and to have a body function properly. This alignment is done by chiropractors. When it's out of alignment, there are subluxations. Since many of the nerves which travel through the vertebrae serve all of the body's organs, it's obvious that any disruption may result in illness, pain, and/or disability.

It's important to acknowledge the difference between Chiropractic, Osteopathy, and Medicine. Chiropractic health care seeks to restore health through natural means without the use of medicine or surgery. This gives the body maximum opportunity to utilize its inherent recuperative powers.

The Atlas Orthognist is a doctor in the field of Chiropractic, with training in the structure, function and bio-mechanics of the upper cervical spine. Mark Freund and Thomas Collins are doctors in this specialized field. Dr. Freund states, "We believe that this method affords a gentle and effective treatment to our patients." He added, "Our approach includes teaching patients to value the natural approach to healthcare, creating an atmosphere which allows patients to feel comfortable and relaxed, and providing extraordinary services." When asked why he went into this specialized field, Freund responded, "The results were more precise, and the process is more gentle and less traumatic." Many of his patients have fully recovered from accidents, or other injuries to the spine. It's possible to get "misaligned" just by having poor posture or bad sleeping habits.

To experience a session is to experience not only relaxation, but a renewal of energy. It began with three x-rays of the atlas, the first vertebra on which the head sits. The three x-rays become a sort of 3-D picture for the doctor to begin the calculations resulting in the how far off the 90 degrees you are. After analyzing the x-ray, you are ready for the adjustment. The doctor uses instruments rather than the hands, because the instruments are gentler and more precise. When you see the x-rays, it's easy to observe what needs to be done! The doctor repositions the bones and the muscles will support the 'line up'. You might be told to do some exercises to increase the range of motion for your neck.

So just what are the special skills needed to address each patient? The relief of painful symptoms is not the answer. The doctor must search out and remove the underlying cause (or causes) of the problem. The process often requires the retraining of those muscles and ligaments which have become weakened and stretched, in order to bring the spinal structure back to its normal condition. Patients are often amazed that it is so effective. The chiropractor may employ Orthopedic, Neurological, Physiological, Kinesiological and spinal examinations, as well as x-ray. As a result of the proper diagnosis and treatments, the patient's body returns to normal, maximum health.

The education of the doctors is indicative of the success that accompanies the treatments. The Atlas Orthognist is a fully accredited, licensed doctor of chiropractic. He or she has undergone a minimum of four years of undergraduate studies, followed by four or more years of intense training in such subjects as: anatomy, physiology, pathology, bacteriology, and others. To become an Atlas Orthognist, there is an additional post graduate study and board certification requirement.

The Atlas Orthogonal approach may be the answer to a number of conditions that keep a person from functioning at top level. The list is lengthy. It includes neck and back pain, headaches/migraines, joint stiffness, numbness/tingling, disk injury, gastrointestinal distress, asthma, chronic fatigue syndrome, fibromyalgia, and scoliosis.

Dr. Freund and Collins practice at Northern Illinois Chiropractic in Lindenhurst, and can be called at 265-6400 for further information.—

Strength training for kids can be fun, too

Innovative strength-training products, such as resistance balls and tubes, have captured the imagination of young exercisers, who may be more attracted to the opportunity they present for fun than for fitness. Which is fine, because the physical fitness levels of today's youth are piling in comparison to that of their parents and grandparents, and anything that sparks their interest and participation is helpful.

Research shows that American children and adolescents have poor upper body strength, with one study reporting that more than 30 percent of 10 to 11-year-old boys and 60 percent of 10 to 11-year-old girls were unable to perform one chin-up.

What's a parent to do? First, try to ignite a genuine interest in fitness in your children. Propose walks, bike rides, a little one-on-one basketball. Then, if your child is willing, do some strength training together. Recent research indicates that strength training may actually enhance the development of bone and connective tissue in children and may favorably influence their growth.

Like any physical activity, strength training for children should be performed within appropriate guidelines. International fitness expert, founder and CEO of Jazzercise, Judi Sheppard Missett offers these tips:

- Take into account each individual child's maturity level, desire to participate and ability to understand technique and direction.
- Have your child perform the movements without weights or equipment first. Perform all exercises slowly, with controlled movements through a full range of motion. When they've mastered the technique, they can add a light amount of resistance.
- Start with very light weights/resistance and increase the amount very gradually. A child's training program should consist of high repetitions and one to three sets of each exercise using relatively low loads. Children should not attempt to perform any maximum lifts.

- Avoid overhead lifts, such as an overhead press or overhead tricep press, with weights. Modify such movements to create exercises which move the hands no higher than shoulder level.

- Provide ample supervision and instruction, and be sure that your child's breathing is smooth and constant. Children should never hold their breath or strain to complete movements.

- Perform a proper warm up and cool down before and after your strength training session. The following exercise stretches the hamstrings and lower back - two areas that work overtime during many activities and sports.

Begin seated on the floor with your feet extended in front of you. Bend one knee just slightly and bend the other to about a 90 degree angle. Sit up tall, keeping your abdominal muscles pulled in and your chest lifted. Lean forward slightly from your hips, reaching for the toes of your extended leg. Stretch only to the point of mild tension; never stretch to the point of pain. You can place one hand on the floor if desired. Hold for at least 15 to 30 seconds breathing naturally and avoiding the tendency to slouch, rounding your shoulders forward. Reverse and repeat on the opposite leg.

Can we curb aggressive and violent impulses in our kids?

Dr. Singer,

Do you have any thoughts on the Columbine shootings? They seem to be saying that the behavior of the killers was a shock and surprise to the boys' parents as much as to everyone else. That scares me. Do you have any suggestions for parents on how to know more about their kids and to make sure that other kids do not grow up thinking this way. Call me...Sick and scared parent.

Dear Sick and Scared,

I am equally sick about this. Before responding to your question, I want to express my heartfelt sorrow for all the families of the victims as well as for all of us who hurt along with them. What an absolutely horrible event.

There are really no words to express my feelings about this. The normal words like outrage, sickness, sadness, etc. don't seem to do justice to it. I understand your fear very much and believe that many other parents are feeling just as frightened.

Let me begin by saying that since all the facts are not in about this, I will not make any direct comments on the specifics of the Columbine shootings. In fact, I believe that the media, in general, has been speculating with a vengeance.

Until we know the facts, it is tough to really know what the reality is. What scares me the most is the fact that each and every time we learn the facts in any of these brutal horrible killing sprees, we say we will learn from them and then we go back to become numbed all over again and allow it to happen all over again. When do we start to really learn AND react?

I think that two things chilled me the most about Columbine. The day that the media announced the suspects, before I saw their pictures, I had visualized in my mind what these two, "monsters" would look like. When I saw their pictures, I about fell out of my chair. They looked like any kids. They looked like anyone's neighbors.

PARENT'S PLACE

Sherri Singer,
Psy.D.

My second chill came that night when I went to work and sat in front of an 8 year old boy. He is a good kid and is in my learning program. My chill came when I looked at his cute little face and the thought entered my mind that those two killers were 8 once and I bet someone looked into their face and thought about how cute they were too. It could be any kid!

While I will not yet comment on the facts of Columbine, I will tell you what I know about a very frightening trend that I see in parenting that I believe could easily contribute to this type of behavior. I'll start by telling you about two things that I have seen, myself.

The first one happened in a daycare center. I watched a 4 year old boy go over to a two year old girl and push her out of a chair onto the floor. Now, if that were my child, I would have immediately gotten in that 4 year old's face and let him know that not only was I very angry about it, but that he was punished and had to apologize to her.

I would have wanted to see the child learn to fear, yes fear, for hurting someone else and then to feel guilt about doing it. What do you suppose I saw the mother of this child do? I saw her laugh about how cute it was. Her child saw how much he had pleased his mother by throwing that defenseless little 2 year old out of her chair. What kind of insanity is this?

In my opinion, little kids who get reinforced for cruel behavior towards others, do have a great risk of being violent toward people throughout their life. Now, you may think that this is an isolated situation and never happens.

Do not be fooled. It happens more than you want to think. It also happens in the form of parents ignoring their kids' cruel behavior so there is no response to it. Cruel behavior needs to be stopped instantly and punished!

The second story happened at the office of one my colleagues. I was providing supervision and doing some testing at a colleagues office. One day, a little girl came in with her mom. My colleague, the mother, the little girl and myself were standing together in a room talking.

Apparently, this wasn't moving quite fast enough for the little girl and she kicked her mother hard, in the leg. Well, my instant response was to look at the girl with distaste on my face and tell her to never kick anyone ever again, least of all her mom.

To me this is a logical response when any form a violent behavior takes place in front of you. Well, my colleague proceeded to grab me by the arm, hard and pulled me over to the corner to tell me to not stop that kind of behavior again. That it wasn't my job to get involved with it. I looked at her and was amazed at the incredible non-human response.

There would have been no good reason to let that behavior go, yet my colleague, was not only willing to do that, but adamant about it. It's everyone's job to get involved in stopping that type of behavior.

These two stories illustrate very clearly a very important point. In both situations, aggression in a child was not stopped. In both situations, the child gained power by being violent.

Do these types of things over and over again and you will develop that child's aggression and violence into a finely tuned skill. Children are naturally aggressive. This is not the problem. The problem is the adults who either ignore that aggression or encourage that aggression and don't teach anything else.

One more thing...We do our utmost best to protect our kids from negative emotions. Fear and guilt being two of those emotions. I am here to tell you that I believe that in the right situations, fear and guilt have a very important place in the lives of our kids.

They had better be afraid of doing certain things and had better feel guilt when they've done others. The problem is that these feelings do not surface because of something inborn. If you think they do, you're wrong. They are taught, by parents.

When your child is aggressive or violent, it is your job to get in the way of it, stop it, punish it, teach from it and make sure your child apologizes for it. If you fail to teach your child how to deal with aggressive feelings and violent impulses, you might be the next person who has to wonder how it could have happened with your child.

These Columbine killers didn't get that way overnight. The complete lack of regard for human life, the complete self-absorption, the feeling that their feelings were more important than that of anyone else or anything else.

The brazen lack of fear or guilt about any of it makes me believe that some of the very principles I describe here probably made up the personality's of these boys. People don't snap for a full year. The pre-planning of this crime suggests that these boys didn't fear their aggression or feel guilt over it. They took power from it and utilized it to serve their pathetic ego-centric interests.

You love your kids, but don't let them get away with anything just because they're yours or they're cute. Especially, aggression and violence. Don't let love blind you to the important teachings that they all need. They need to know, at a very young age, that it is never their decision to kill anything or anyone. Teach them that it is not their decision to hurt anything or anyone. They need to know that you completely disapprove when you see or hear aggressive or violent types of behavior from them.

At a very young age, they need to know that those types of behaviors will get them in more trouble than they would ever care to be in. They also need you to talk to them, be involved with them and fill their heads with your good beliefs when they are as young as possible.

If you don't, rest assured that other's in the world will fill their heads with things you will not like. If your child is in serious trouble now, get help right now! When more facts come out, there will be more columns about these issues. G-d be with the victims and their families.

Lake Forest Hospital Among Friends benefit proceeds help purchase medical linear accelerator

Proceeds from Lake Forest Hospital's Among Friends Centennial Celebration, scheduled for Friday, May 21, have been dedicated to help with the hospital's purchase of the most technologically advanced piece of radiation equipment on the market — the PRIMUS medical linear accelerator. Lake Forest Hospital purchased the equipment one year ago — and was the first facility in Lake County to offer this technology.

"This purchase represents a significant investment in the communities we serve. Lake Forest Hospital now has the most technologically advanced radiation equipment in Lake County allowing us to treat all types of cancers while greatly reducing the risk of treatment," noted Joseph Imperato, MD, Lake Forest Hospital radiation oncologist and president of the Illinois Division of the American Cancer Society. "It delivers radiation to the tumor in the most sophisticated way possible. The new simulator and treatment planning computer help us map out the area to be treated with great accuracy."

Used in the treatment of various forms of cancer, this system is highly compact and offers a wide variety of energy ranges. Unlike older systems that delivered high energy treatments and required modular assemblies, this technology is fully integrated into one structure. The PRIMUS model is the most compact medical linear accelerator providing the widest photon energy range.

Benefit co-chairs Susan Harger and Carol Neal Whiting, along with their committee, will host the black-tie event at Lake Forest's Onwentsia Club. Marking its 100th birthday in 1999, the benefit also formally launches Lake Forest Hospital's centennial anniversary celebration of providing a century of care to Lake County communities. Tickets to the event are $150.

The benefit includes cocktails, hors d'oeuvres, a sit down dinner, entertainment and dancing. There will also be a live and silent auction featuring a variety of unique items, including wine tasting, vacations, sporting event tickets, dinners a golf vacation package and artwork.

The Among Friends Centennial Celebration is sponsored by The Friends of Lake Forest Hospital, a support organization which draws its membership from throughout Lake County and focuses on generating support from communities served by Lake Forest Hospital.

For tickets or benefit information, please call Susan Skinner, director of Development at 234-6111.

Poison Center warns of potential toxic outcomes from 'alternative' medical practices

The Illinois Poison Center (IPC), a subsidiary of the Metropolitan Chicago Healthcare Council, wants to caution the public about the potential toxic dangers of two popular "alternative" medical practices. The practiced, not sanctioned by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) or recognized by the American Medical Association (AMA) but sometimes promoted by alternative medicine practitioners, are the home use of ozone generators and the use of electrodermal testing to screen for allergies and identify the presence of chemicals, pesticides and other toxic materials.

Contrary to claims made by some who sell ozone generators as air cleaners, ozone is a known respiratory irritant that can damage lungs when inhaled and produces increased respiratory infections. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) stresses that no government agency has approved the use of the ozone generators in the home. The EPA also warns consumers that people and pets should not be in the same where an ozone generator is operating and that even when used properly, following the manufacturer's direction, the device may be harmful (see "Ozone Generators That Are Being Sold as Air Cleaners: An Assessment of Effectiveness and Health Consequences" on the EPA's Web site, www.epa.gov/iedweb00/pubs). IPC Director John

Dellinger, Ph.D., explained. "Ozone is a major component of smog and air pollution and no one should intentionally elevate ozone levels at home."

Another alternative medical practice that is causing concern is the use of electrodermal testing devices, which use an ohm meter to read electrical resistance at acupuncture points, usually on the feet. The tests are used by some alternative medical practitioners to screen for allergies and to identify the presence of chemicals, pesticides and other toxic materials in the body. Touted as a non-invasive measure to balance the body's organ system, the devices have not been approved by the FDA for medical diagnostic purposes. "The IPC is not aware of any 'non-invasive' way to measure the concentrations of toxins in the body. You must obtain a body sample (blood, urine, hair) and submit it to a clinical testing laboratory, certified to federal standards, to identify and quantify poisons," explained Dellinger.

For more information, see "Medical Association Settles False Advertising Charges Over Promotion of 'Chelation Therapy' on the FTC's Web site, www.ftc.gov. The AMA also provides background on the subject in the February 8, 1999 American Medical News, available on the AMA's web site at www.ama-assn.org.

31st Fair Diddley® Craft Show returns to Woodstock City Square on May 16th

The Mental Health Resource League for McHenry County, Inc. will sponsor the 31st Annual Fair Diddley® Craft Show on Sunday, May 16th, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the Woodstock City Square.

Thousands of fairgoers attend Fair Diddley® every year. The juried craft show features over 350 booths of many new artisans, along with favorite exhibitors. Look for an overstanding variety of folk art and much, much more! Hungry fairgoers will find tasty food concessions around the Square and the League's traditional bake sale in the Springhouse. Children may enjoy a painted faces booth in the Park Gazebo (hosted by PADS). Visit the League's information booth on the Opera House corner.

The Mental Health Resource League strives to maintain high quality in its craft shows, Fair Diddley® in May and Fall Diddley® in October. Proceeds benefit McHenry County agencies concerned with mental health services. $210,000 was raised in 1998 for 19 agencies.

All League members are volunteers and new members are always welcome. Both 1999 craft shows are filled and no stand-bys will be accommodated. For membership and crafter information for 2000, please write to: MHRL, P.O. Box 204, McHenry, IL 60050 or call 815/385-5745.

New food pyramid puts emphasis on kids diets

The recently released USDA Food Guide pyramid for Young Children has created a flurry of media and consumer interest in the diets of 2- to 6-year olds. And that's a good thing, according to the Dairy Council of Wisconsin.

"The idea of recommendations expressed uniquely for very young children is one we've advocated," says DCW Vice President Laura Wilford, M.S., R.D. "The increasing rate of obesity in children and the penetration of soft drinks in this age group are alarming," she continued. "The pyramid and the accompanying materials are important tools in combating these trends."

USDA based the pyramid on actual eating patterns of young children and then adapted recommendations to meet the particular needs of kids. And although USDA has not changed its advice about what children should eat, the agency has expressed these guidelines in a kid-friendly way, according to Wilford. One change is very evident in the pyramid, one that has provoked wide comment. At the top of the pyramid portrayed near the "Eat Less" advice is a can of soda pop. According to Agriculture Department statistics, on any given day 37 percent of children 2- to 6-years-old consume an average of 10 ounces of soda. Research also shows that nearly 30 percent of America's young children are overweight.

The pyramid retains the 2-servings per day for children from the Milk Group. "Unfortunately," Wilford stated, "some media have interpreted this guideline as a reduction from the USDA's standard pyramid of 2 to 3 servings per day. That pyramid expressed a range for all ages," Wilford explained.

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Who do you call when you need legal advice?

It is common practice when you're starting or running a business to try to save every nickel you can. However, there are some areas where saving a few dollars may cost hundreds or even thousands on down the road. Seeking sound legal advice is often one of those areas.

I find that not only do pre-start-up entrepreneurs struggle with the issue of legal advice, but veteran business owners grapple with this issue as well. The answer to the question of who to call for legal advice is both easy and difficult. The easy answer: call an attorney. The difficult part: which firm and which attorney.

In this column, I want to address three basic legal issues. First, why should you work with an attorney? Second, how do you find a good attorney? And finally, how can you minimize legal costs?

Why have a legal partner?

I've stated in previous columns that business owners need external partners or advisors to help them through difficult problems or uncharted territory. Attorneys, tax advisors and bankers are common external partners.

A good small-business attorney can help protect you and your assets from numerous business losses. Your legal partner can keep you out of trouble with employees, government regulations, vendors and customers. He or she can assist you with real estate purchases, legal structures, contracts and personnel policy issues.

Finding the right attorney

Selecting the right legal partner may not be as challenging as you think. You can call your State's Bar Association, consult legal directories or use your local yellow pages.

My favorite method is to seek referrals from business friends and acquaintances. I call a few business associates. When the same name comes up a few times, I start with that firm or attorney. Remember, selecting an attorney is a personal issue. Find a person you're comfortable with and who has experience in small-business issues.

Here are some characteristics and experience I'd look for:

- A positive attitude. I want to work with an attorney who can not only point out the legal problems, but also propose positive, practical solutions.
- Common sense explanations. While attorneys are trained to work in "legalese," I expect simple, concise terms and everyday language when we talk.
- Respect for my business. Even though my business is small now, I don't expect it to stay that way. I want a partner who wants my business now, and will help me grow into a bigger, better client.
- Broad-based experience. I want a partner with a broad, generalized knowledge of business law who won't hesitate to bring in a "specialist" if needed.

Saving money

Attorneys usually sell their knowledge, experience and skills by the hour. Charges vary from $50 to $500 per hour and more. My advice to

Reva Bay Townhomes Waterfront Community

Ground breaking occurred for Fox Lake's newest Townhome development, Reva Bay on Friday, April 16. In attendance were Mayor James Pappas, Fred H. Loeb and his partner Bob Washlow developers of Reva Bay, Bill Hart, Building Inspector for Fox Lake, and Carolyn Theesfield and Susan Gust, principals of RE/MAX Grand in Fox Lake/Ingleside.

These waterfront townhomes are situated on a quiet bay accessing Grass Lake and the Chain of lakes waterway and create a fantastic hideaway location for anyone who wishes to not only live on the water but also within a wetland preservation area.

"We have over 50 acres of property - only half of which is buildable" says Fred H. Loeb, President of Capital Associates, the Milwaukee Based Builder/Developer of Reva Bay Townhomes. This development is truly special. Not only do you have waterfront access with private boat ramp but the townhomes are surrounded by wetlands and retention ponds which provide a border to the wetlands themselves. Once inside the development you are looking at water from almost every direction. It's like being in Venice!"

Many state and federal agencies have jurisdiction over the property extending building permit time over one year - with ground breaking on April 16, earthwork and infrastructure development is now underway. There will be a total of 94 townhome units in 13 buildings - ranging from 1300 to 2500 sq. ft. There are 8 different floor plans and all units have at least two bedrooms, two full baths and two car attached garage. Amenities include gourmet kitchens, private boat ramp, wetland preservation areas and award winning floor plan designs.

"We are excited about introducing our unique floor plans into this market. Many units are ranch models that have proven to be quite popular in our Wisconsin developments. Additionally, because of the existing topography, we will have 2-3 story townhome units some with interesting end units featuring turret style den/study options."

Sales and construction are now underway at Reva Bay. Pre construction base prices range from $149,900 to $275,000. Sales and marketing is being handled by RE/MAX Grand in Fox Lake. First occupancies are scheduled for late 1999.

TCI cable customers receive free Pay-Per-View previews

Customers can watch the first five minutes of a movie before ordering

A new and handy feature of TCI Digital Cable will appear on customers' screens beginning April 1, 1999. Pay-Per-View Free Preview from TV Guide allows customers to view the first five minutes of selected Pay-Per-View movies.

According to TCI of Northeast Illinois Communications Manager Diane Powers, "This is a beneficial service for our customers, so that they can trial a movie before they order it and, therefore, before they pay for it."

The company's Pay-Per-View provider, Viewer's Choice, screens the first five minutes of every title to determine if it is suitable for the free preview. Regardless of the rating of the title, if the first five minutes contain any violence, profanity or nudity, a free preview will not be offered.

The Pay-Per-View Free Preview overlay is associated with TCI Digital Cable's "Flip Bar" and appears to inform the viewer that what they are seeing is a preview on that particular Pay-Per-View channel. The overlay is simply a "bar code" which lets the viewer know the name of the movie, channel and time. The overlay times out or disappears in 6 seconds. The viewer can bring up the overlay at anytime by pressing the OK key on the remote control. The movie plays until the end of the 5-minute free preview period, unless interrupted by viewer commands.

"Everything is driven by the remote, so the customer is in complete control; of the preview and if they choose to order the movie. It is an excellent feature," said Powers.

Perkins wins Better Homes and Gardens Oldest Cook Book contest for 1999

Linda Perkins of Lake Zurich submitted a 1930 issue of the Better Homes and Gardens Cook Book to win the Woodland Realty/Better Homes and Gardens Oldest Cook Book Contest and $100 gift certificates from Outback Steak House in Gurnee! This contest was sponsored as part of Woodland/Realty Homes and Gardens celebration of joining the Better Homes and Gardens Real Estate Service.

Irene Aken of Zion wins a New Better Homes and Gardens Cook Book for her 2nd place entry from 1931.

We had 4 entries of Better Homes and Gardens Cook Books from 1935, 3 from 1936, 3 from 1938, 3 from 1939, 2 from 1940, 1 from 1941, 2 from 1944, 7 from 1946, 3 from 1947, 2 from 1948, 6 from 1949, 2 from 1950, 1 from 1951, 16 from 1953, and many from more current years (we even received a Better Homes and Gardens Handyman's Book from Darci and Michael White of Grayslake.)

Some of our more unique entries include an Everyday Illustrated Cook Book from 1893 from Carla Sterr of Round Lake Beach, who also wins a Better Homes and Gardens Cook Book. Norma Hanson of Antioch sent in a Gold Medal Cook Book from 1910, Joan Jackson of Lindenhurst has an Economy Administration Cook Book from 1913 and a household Discoveries and Mrs. Curtis's Cook Book from 1914. Bud Dunkelmann brought in a 1917 Ryzon Baking Book and a 1946 Betty Crocker Cook Book and when was the last time you saw a Spry Cook Book? Frances Peleska of Round Lake has one of those along with a 1947 Family Home Cook Book. Betty Tuft of McHenry has a 1949 Antoinette Poper Autographed Candy Book.

Woodland Realty/Better Homes and Gardens would like to thank everyone who participated in this contest. It was really very interesting for everyone in our office. We talked to and met with many interesting people. It was really exciting.

COUNTY DIGEST

Tax bills in the mail

Lake County Treasurer Robert Skidmore's office said the county's 233,000 real estate tax bills are in the mail. If you have not received a tax bill by May 10, contact the Lake County Collector at 847-360-6363.

Taxes can be made in full or in two equal installments. The due date for the first installment this year will be June 3, and the second installment on Sept. 3.

For additional information and explanation of fees and payment options, visit the treasurer's web site at www.co.lake.il.us/treasurer.

A new millennium

Lake County Forest Preserve members have changed the name of the West Loop Trail to the Millennium Trail and Greenway in recognition of the new millennium.

"The West Loop Trail was just a planning name. We thought with construction beginning in the year 2000 that in recognition of the new millennium we would give the trail a new name," said Steven Messerli, executive director of the Lake County Forest Preserve District.

When completed, the Millennium Trail will extend from near Lincolnshire through Mundelein and Grayslake up to almost the Wisconsin border.

Man faces child sex abuse charges in Lake County

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
City Editor

A Woodstock man is being held in Lake County Jail on $500,000 bond for the alleged sexual abuse of a child in Antioch, and perhaps as many as 10 other cases of abuse in McHenry County.

Robert H. Butt, 31, is charged with predatory criminal sexual assault and two counts of aggravated criminal sexual abuse stemming from the Lake County case. He is accused of molesting a 4-year-old girl from unincorporated Antioch in July 1998.

Butt is also suspected of sexually abusing 10 other victims in McHenry County, both boys and girls between the ages of 4 and 6, over the last 10 years, according to Lake County State's Attorney Michael Waller.

Butt allegedly reported the abuse himself to the Illinois Department of Children and Family Services, and an investigation was initiated by the Lake County Children's Advocacy Center, Waller said.

Waller said additional charges could be pending in McHenry County.

"Those allegations are still under investigation," said Waller. "Attempts are being made to locate the other victims."

Waller said Butt had befriended or been acquaintances with the parents of the children and in some cases had stayed with the families.

"That's pretty common with men who abuse children," Waller said.

Butt is being held in Lake County Jail on bond pending a May 13 preliminary hearing at the Lake County Courthouse in Waukegan. Predatory criminal sexual assault is a Class X felony carrying a possible prison term of between six and 30 years in prison.

Major utilities claim readiness for Y2K

By Lisa Carriere
Correspondent

Reassuring the audience of the compliance of the utilities' computer systems with the Y2K bug, a forum of representatives from ComEd, Ameritech and Nicor Gas gathered at the Wauconda Evangelical Free Church on Tuesday night.

Computer system compliance is measured in terms of its ability to function correctly when processing date information of the next century. Y2K bug concerns stem from computerized systems' embedded chips having date-sensitive information recorded with only a two-digit year, not a four-digit year (for example, 99, not 1999).

With electricity availability being the primary concern when the calendar flips to January 2000, Harlan Dam from ComEd strove to reiterate the effectiveness of the utility's countermeasures toward Y2K readiness. "As of Friday," he stated, "Com Ed was 95% compliant." He added, "We are on schedule to be 100 percent compliant by July 1."

Ameritech spokesperson Kevin Reich echoed this high percentage of compliance for the telecommunications utility, as did Nicor Gas' Community Relations Director Steve Palmeri. However, some in the audience desired a more thorough understanding of the utilities' workings.

Foster care fills void for children in need

By Dana Pollen
Correspondent

Growing up can be hard enough, but growing up when your caregivers are having trouble makes the job that much tougher. Luckily, foster families are available to help children who find themselves in a poor situation.

"Foster parents are dedicated, committed, patient people who are using a heart full of love to provide a bridge for children who need it," said Pearl Lawson, Foster Home Recruiter with Catholic Charities.

Of the approximately 800 Lake County children in foster care, about 400 of them are placed through Catholic Charities.

"Children go into foster care for a number of reasons," Lawson said. "Sometimes the parents are incarcerated, or struggling with alcohol and substance abuse. Other times the family has fallen on hard times and there is no one to take care of the children. Our goal is to foster the children and provide unwavering love while the parents get well."

Providing that love often has positive effects on the parents as well.

"You feel pretty good about your role as a foster parent," said Jim and Mary McKeown, foster parents from Wadsworth. "Take all the problems of childhood and compound them with all the problems adults can create and you have a challenge."

Foster parents are provided with training in everything from discipline, how to counsel children and how to style ethnic hair. However, tioned a storm that left residents of Wauconda and the surrounding area without power for days last winter. She said, "I had to go to bed just to stay warm. What if something happens like that in January and the power stays off [indefinitely]?"

Y2K: Utilities claim readiness

Com Ed's Harlan Dam explained the grid system, termed MAIN, that enables Com Ed and other Unicom companies to provide electricity to the Midwest. "These other companies are also required to be compliant, and we have had all reassurance that they will be so by the end of the year. The government is requiring that every electrical utility be at a 30 percent excess capacity on January 1. This is a very large amount of excess power. If a neighboring utility has a problem, then Com Ed can jump in." He added, "Com Ed will be at more than a 30 percent excess capacity. And since all the utilities on the grid system are connected, we can disconnect from a neighboring system [that is not working properly]."

Summarily, heating one's home is connected with proper electricity availability, but Palmeri explained that Nicor Gas is not dependent upon external power. Gas, Palmeri reminded, is delivered through underground pipes by a hydraulic, not electronic, system. Although there are electronic valves at Nicor's compression plants, manual overrides can be used if electricity is not available.

"However," he added, "Nicor is not dependent on the electricity grid to produce electricity. We can supply our own electricity cheaper and we already do so in some places."

Although most questions from the concerned audience were mostly pointed at ComEd's representative,

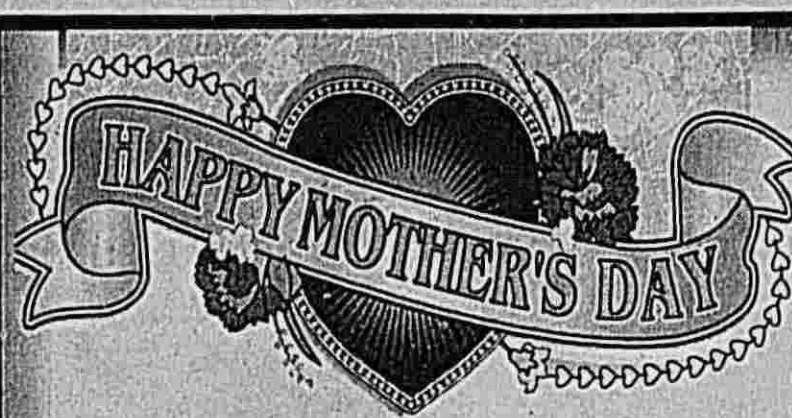

Kevin Reich from Ameritech reminded people that part of the responsibility rested on their shoulders. "Ameritech has been steadily working since 1996 to make their 31 million lines of code and 25 products ready for the year 2000. Our 12,000 buildings will be running normally. However, as a consumer, you need to make certain that your own equipment is Y2K-compliant. This can be done by checking to see if there is a date feature on your phone. If there is not, then there is no embedded chip that is date-sensitive."

"If the electricity does not work properly," he added, "you can always get analog service with a regular phone. There are diesel generators at the plant that will run indefinitely. We are regulated by the government to provide telephone service to critical customers—like hospitals—even without electricity."

As Ameritech already has emergency contingencies in place for times in which electricity is inaccessible, so do the other utilities. For example, Dam cited the storm that was supposed to materialize that night at midnight. "We have 56 crews standing by in case [of power being affected]. There are some things we can't prevent, so we have to take precautions and be ready."

"There are natural gas storage capacities in central Illinois," said Palmeri. "There are critical customers that we have to be prepared for."

Mediating the at times heated discussion was Pastor Christopher Barnes of the host church. Tuesday's seminar was the fourth in a series of Y2K forums that were open to the public for community awareness and education.

AT A GLANCE

A DIGEST OF STORIES MAKING HEADLINES THROUGHOUT OUR REGION

Cook Library trustee appointed

Libertyville—A Cook Memorial Library Trustee who was removed from the April election ballot and eventually resigned from the board, finds herself back on the board after a short absence.

Linda Lucke, who was prevented from running in the April election because of an error on her petition pages, was appointed May 1 to the seat left vacant by Former Trustee Marcia Moore.

Moore resigned from the board last month because she and her husband are moving to Colorado.

Cook Memorial Library Board President Joe Bean said the board had gone through an exhaustive process of searching for an appointee last year when Lucke was first appointed to the board.

Bean said it was a shame that Lucke was removed from the board on a technicality, but this new appointment will help make up for that and the board's work in finding a qualified board member will not go to waste.

Services held for bus crash victim

Grayslake—Funeral services were held Tuesday for Richard J. Skowzgid, a resident of Grayslake, who died in a tragic bus accident April 30.

Skowzgid, 43, was a parental chaperone for the bus of students from the John Powers Center for hearing-impaired children in Vernon Hills.

The bus and its passengers, which included parents, teachers, staff members, and students, were traveling on Interstate 55 to East Peoria when the driver, Renee Rand, lost control.

The bus swerved into the oncoming lane, struck a car and eventually flipped over in a ditch.

Skowzgid was thrown from the bus and trapped under a wheel. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

He leaves behind his wife, Barb; his daughters Krystine, Joanne, and Michelle; his parents George and Alice Skowzgid; his sister Jan and brother Ron.

AUGS senior band scores well

Antioch—Antioch Upper Grade School Senior Band members have been awarded a Superior First Rating for musical performance abilities in State of Illinois band competition.

"Superior First is a rating very seldom given to a band in a state contest," said Principal Debbie Kerr. "Our band has only received it five times in all the time Earl (Bush) has been here."

Earl Bush is the music director at Antioch Upper Grade School. He took the band to the Illinois Grade School Music Association Northern Division Band Contest at Hawthorn Junior High School near Vernon Hills, Ill.

The AUGS Senior Band includes students from grades seven and eight. There are 58 band members. Members of the band must audition to become part of it. The AUGS Senior Band serves as a competition band and does appearances in the community.

Science and teamwork converge

Round Lake—Eleven area schools experienced "Spherical Madness" May 1 at Round Lake High School.

The Chicago chapter of BEST, (Boosting Engineering, Science, and Technology), held its annual robotics competition where this year, students designed and engineered a remote control robot to collect spherical objects which are then deposited into a container.

The BEST Award Trophy, which is presented to the team which best embodies the concept of teamwork, creativity, positively, and enthusiasm in school and community involvement went to Grayslake High School, who also took the third place trophy.

The first place trophy was awarded to William Fremd High School. Downers Grove South took the second place trophy, and Antioch High School nabbed the fourth place trophy.

Pageant fund-raising luncheon

Udenhurst—Lake County pageant queens will participate in a spring fashion show and luncheon to benefit the Condell Medical Center on Sunday, May 23 at noon at the Country Squire Restaurant in Grayslake.

Little Miss, Junior Miss, and Miss community queens will model fashions suitable for candidate queens considering participation in upcoming pageants this year.

A powerful voice

"This is a day you can come and learn about the Lake County Fair pageant system," said Darlene Cankar, organizer of the event.

Funds raised by the event will be donated to Condell's PACT program, Pediatric Alternatives for Creative Therapy. "It's a relatively new program at Condell Medical Center," Cankar said.

Reservations must be made with Cankar by Monday, May 17 at 265-2171. Adult tickets are $22 and children are $16.

MHS sends money to Littleton

Mundelein—Students at Mundelein High School sent money and a card to their peers at Columbine High School in Littleton, Colo. earlier this week.

The ACE (Athletes Committed to Excellence) club at MHS recently joined the efforts. The club annually awards a small scholarship to a graduating senior. The young man who was to receive the award decided to forgo the scholarship and instead send the money to Littleton.

"It was a nice gesture on his part," said Mike Dayton, the club's advisor.

All students in the club voted favorably to send the money, which will be used for a memorial of the Columbine students. Approximately $500 was sent.

Shoppers get to see a "Star"

Gurnee—Shoppers at Gurnee Mills on Saturday, May 1, had the opportunity to meet a "Star" of one of daytime television's most popular shows, "The View."

Co-host Star Jones, who appears on the show with Barbara Walters, Meredith Viera, and Joy Behar, visited Gurnee Mills as part of Red Lobster's "The View Across America." The three-month, 13-city tour allows fans nationwide to see a live taping of the show.

Many people attended the event, held at the mall's show court. Residents from all over Lake County, including Round Lake and Mundelein, participated in on-camera auditions to appear with co-hosts for the "Hot Topics" segment of the stage show.

Audience members also had the chance to meet Tracy Butler, weather anchor from WLS-TV, and Nikki Woods, on-air radio personality from WGCI.

Round Lake party asks for recount

Round Lake—Village of Round Lake trustee candidates Patrick Smythe and Michael Ross of "A New Voice," on April 29, requested a discovery recount of the ballots cast in the April 13 election.

The party initiated the recount process shortly after vote totals posted on the County's web site showed an apparent difference between the counts tabulated at the polls.

As a result of the recount, discrepancies appear to exist among several ballots from Precinct 24 and possibly others. Some appeared to have been counted twice, and some were missing valid registration.

Representatives of "A New Voice" spoke with an attorney about filing a request with the circuit court to have a judge invalidate the questionable ballots, and call for a new election.

Township opens baseball complex

Lake Villa—Lake Villa Township Baseball League and Lakes Region Youth Baseball will host opening day festivities for their inaugural season on four new ball diamonds Saturday, May 15.

It is a full day with sixteen baseball games, concession stand food, raffles, prizes, ceremonies, and national and local sponsors.

Games start at 9 a.m., and at approximately 11 a.m., 1 p.m., and 3 p.m. Between games there will be an ongoing sports memorabilia auction, a field dedication, raffle drawings, a pitching and batting contest, and special ceremonies.

Former Chicago Cubs second baseman Glenn Beckert will be a special guest for the day.

There will also be a special ceremony of recognition for past coaches of the league. The first coach to be honored is Robert Bunkelman who coached in the league 23 years ago.

Field of Dreams fund-raiser

Grant Township—The Second Annual Grant Township Field of Dreams fund-raiser takes place on Saturday, May 8, at 26535 W. Molitor Road, where the township wants to develop a 30 acre recreational site.

Activities and events will be held rain or shine, with three large tents set-up to protect everyone from the elements, and picnic tables underneath to relax and have a good time, and enjoyable picnic.

"It is such a beautiful area out there," said Grant Town Clerk Catherine "Kay" Starostovic. A flea market begins at 9 a.m., with other activities and events, such as volleyball, kids games, a car exhibit and much more beginning at 10 a.m., rain or shine.

Proceeds will benefit the development of a 30 acre recreational area on the site.

Stroke kills village official

Lake Zurich—A Village trustee was memorialized on the day his term ended.

Funeral services were held May 3 for Jim Weakly, 62, a man who locked horns with developers on many occasion and stood up for village residents and employees.

The Lake County Coroner's Office reports Weakly suffered a stroke April 25 after he fell on the sidewalk and struck his head while leaving a Chicago Cubs baseball game, and might have died April 27, reports said. His body was found in his home April 29.

Weakly was elected to the board in 1995, and did not seek re-election.

Employees vote to join union

Wauconda—A majority of Village of Wauconda employees eligible to join a union voted to join the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME).

An AFSCME spokesman said the village's public works, clerical works at Village Hall and part-time crossing guards voted April 21 to join the union. Of the 25 total employees eligible to participate, 18 voted in favor, three voted against and four abstained, reports said.

The employees will be represented by AFSCME Council 31. "The goal will be to negotiate a contract that will set wages, benefits and working conditions," said Linc Cohen, an AFSCME spokesman.

Common ground sought for sprawl

Illinois Lt. Gov. Corinne Wood, a resident of Lake County, advanced the cause for preserving open space and curbing urban sprawl as official state policy in addressing a regional land planning conference in Chicago. Judging from the results of the last two elections, Wood is right on target in expressing the sentiments of county residents.

While the buzz word at the conference was "smart growth," attendees clearly were perplexed defining the form and pace of growth and development. Wood said Illinois wants to balance business success, protect the environment and promote a high quality of life. Nothing wrong with those goals.

Ward Miller, executive director of the Lake County StormWater Management Commission, made a cogent observation at the same meeting: that planners and developers need to do a better job of describing what they want to protect and "steer development away from what we are trying to project." That sounds like a serious communications problem to us.

In the same vein of promoting understanding between two opposite forces, Lake County Board Rep. Diana O'Kelly (R-Mundelein) called for a meeting between the county and municipal officials to find out "what they intend to do to help with roads." O'Kelly zeroed in on the problem that village leaders with a bias toward growth add to traffic problems and do little or nothing to solve transportation headaches.

Without getting into the merits of whether O'Kelly framed a key component of the growth crisis fairly or unfairly, we think she suggested a step toward mutual understanding—a county conference on urban sprawl similar to the meeting at which Lt. Gov. Wood spoke.

In our opinion, such a county conference couldn't take place soon enough. The benefits of mutual understanding and joint action could be enormous. Let's get going!

Outer belt loop next rail commute?

Nearly 40 years ago, an idea began percolating to run commuter service on the then Soo Line Railroad between Antioch and a connecting point in Cook County where trains could be directed to the Chicago Loop. Several thousand riders daily today on that line linking central Lake County towns known as North Central are testament to the validity of the commuter rail plan envisioned so many years ago.

It is interesting to recall the Soo Line plan of long ago now that an idea is in the incubative stage to provide commuter service on the Elgin, Joliet, Eastern line that connects Waukegan, North Chicago, Mundelein, Hawthorn Woods, Lake Zurich and the Barrington area with points as far away as Gary, Ind. The EJ&E is a freight only line that hauls steel, coal and other industrial products between industrial centers on the outer fringe of Chicago.

Metra officials are enthralled with the commuting potential of the EJ&E. Shane Winn, director of transportation policy for the Northwest Municipal Conference, says the outer loop plan is being incorporated into conference policy.

Planners are intrigued with the idea of suburb-to-suburb commuter potential as opposed to the time-honored thinking of suburb-to-downtown Chicago. Lake County leaders, for the most part, have been silent on EJ&E commuting, but south suburban mayors see the line as attracting more white-collar workers to job-hungry industries and office parks.

If the Soo Line timetable is followed, rail commuter service for the outer belt can be anticipated between 2030 and 2040. Right now that seems like an unbelievably long time, but we think time will be well worth planning for the eventuality of Outer Belt rail community—or fast-tracking.

IF THE "LEAF BURNING BAN DEBATE" WERE A MUSICAL...

VIEWPOINT

Year of the Woman for Veep balloting

Carve it in stone. Take it to the bank. Both political parties will nominate a woman for vice president in 2000.

That's the prediction of John Steinke, College of Lake County political scientist, an astute observer of Lake County and Illinois politics and the county's foremost political historian.

Elizabeth Dole, in the county recently for an address at a GOP fund raising dinner at Marriott Lincolnshire, may be a presidential candidate by pronouncement, but she's actually running for the nomination for veep, according to Steinke.

Here's the political reality as seen by the CLC sage: Women voters far outnumber male voters, by millions. Republicans, in particular, need a woman on the ballot in tune with main stream issues. That's Dole. The nation has reached the time when gender balance in presidential politics is a must. Presto. Two women for vice president.

Best bet for the distaff Democratic nominee is U.S. Sen. Diane Feinstein of California, in Steinke's opinion. Biggest state. High profile. Liberal-moderate. Clinton-Gore loyalist.

It figures, Steinke asserts with a grin, his bespectacled eyes twinkling. John seldom is wrong.

Lots of pork

Marianne Amann, known as the Round Lake Pig Lady, has a brood of pot-belly pigs that has grown to 19. "They're all doing well and I'm going to get more," she exclaims. Amann owns an island of unincorporated land in the middle of the home building project the wealthy Pritzker family has going in Round Lake. What's all the commotion about the porkers? Odors? Grunts? They authenticate the country atmosphere developers talk about in their advertising.

Safe cutting

A Barrington firm is marketing a safer blade for rotary lawn mowers made of multiple layers of nylon weave and rubber. A sharp edge is maintained as the rubber slowly wears away. Good for 100 hours of mowing, say the manufacturers, Grass-Master's Flexblade. No more flying stones.

Play for 'The Coach'

Legendary DePaul basketball coach Ray Meyer reports growing popularity among young basketball players in Lake County for his summer camp at Three Lakes, Wis. "The Coach" has arranged for six one-week sessions June 21 to August 2 for boys aged 9-17. Besides basketball morning, noon and night, Ray fits in time for swimming, boating, canoeing and tubing. But basketball still is the big thing. Further details are obtainable by calling 847-439-0738.

New arrivals

Ever changing Lake County demographics have resulted in one of the midwest's largest groups of Russian immigrants and former Eastern Bloc nations setting up residency in Mundelein. Newcomers in substantial numbers have acquired homes in Lakewood Valley on Butterfield Rd., a complex less than two years old.

Heading east

Charles "Charlie" Schultz, a vice president of College of Lake County, will retire at the end of the current semester and return to his native New York. Over the years, Charles has played a key role in the expansion of CLC, ably aiding a succession of chief executives. His tenure includes heading up the CLC Foundation for its organization and formative years. Charlie adapted to many midwestern ways, but he never gave up his allegiance to the dreaded Mets. Hey, nobody's perfect. Best of luck.

One man's family

There'll be no problem what to do on warm evenings this spring. A couple of young sluggers have supplied their Little League schedules as an invitation to "see the games." Grandson John is in tee ball and nephew Stephen has moved up to "real pitching." Sounds like fun. Play ball!

Grayslake shifts focus from Route 53 to 120 bypass

Grayslake officials have elevated their support for construction of a Route 120 bypass to priority status.

Does this mean that Grayslake no longer is in the vanguard of support for building the controversial Route 53 extension northward to a four-lane Route 120 westward?

"Not at all," Mayor Pat Carey asserts. "We just think the Route 120 bypass will have more impact on Grayslake."

The subtle demotion of Route 53 planning by Grayslake also can be interpreted that more and more officials are accepting the reality that a duplicate north-south tollway in Lake County has been back-burnered.

Mayor Carey said Grayslake trustees are lobbying hard for reconstruction of the intersection of Routes 45 and 120 which is regarded as a major bottleneck in central Lake County. "That intersection really has to be modernized so traffic can flow better in our area," Carey remarked.

Early bird

State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karls (R-Zion) has put out the word to reserve Thursday, Sept. 23, for her annual fundraiser. She didn't say where, but bet on Midlane Country Club, her home away from home, unless you consider the Capitol Dome in Springfield.

More than $2.5 million in Lake County road improvements are underway thanks to a major boost by Rep. Mark Beaubien (R-Wauconda). Work is now underway for the installation of new stoplights, widening and improvement in Barrington on Illinois Route 22 at Kelsey Road. The improvements total $503,000. Also ready to roll this spring are 3.6 miles of road widening improvements at Lake Zurich on Illinois Route 22 at Buesching Road totalling 809,000—and the installation of new traffic signals, widening and improvements at the intersection of Old McHenry and Quentin Roads, totalling $1.2 million.

"Thanks to the Illinois Department of Transportation our concerns for highway safety and gridlock are being addressed," Beaubien said.

Apologies offered
Fox Waterway Agency Director Marshall Lowe withdrew his motion to terminate Director Ingrid Enriquez at the most recent waterway meeting.

Apologies offered

Lowe also apologized for asking for Enriquez' termination. "I owe Ingrid an apology for going after the wrong person," he reportedly told the board.

Lowe asked for Enriquez' termination after 16 months of committee meeting minutes were not type-written for board approval.

Lowe has indicated he believes Waterway Board Chairman William Dam is the one responsible for insuring meeting minutes are done in a timely fashion.

The Lake County State's Attorney has given the agency six weeks to get the meeting minutes up to date.

Don't fret for Chelsea Clinton

Some interesting insight about our nation's First Family appeared in "George," John F. Kennedy Jr.'s slick, classy, monthly magazine.

Editor-in-chief Kennedy did a major question-and-answer interview with Mike McCurry, who was Bill Clinton's very capable press secretary for three years until leaving the White House for the private sector last October.

Considering the president's penchant for the wenches, some folks wonder if his and Hillary's happy-together hand-holding is a big, fat facade and how his hanky-panky has affected First Daughter Chelsea.

Said McCurry: "She grew up in the White House and turned into a pretty good kid. Have you ever spent any time with her?"

Kennedy: "Yes, she's an impressive young woman."

McCurry: "In my opinion, she has her head screwed on a little bit better than her mom and dad, in many ways."

I must admit I was half wrong in late March when I commented on the kiss-and-tell books about President Clinton that made instant millionaires of Monica Lewinsky and George Stephanopoulos.

"Monica's Story" and Stephanopoulos' "All Too Human" were best sellers when they came out in March, but I suggested sales soon would dwindle. That happened in Lewinsky's case but Stephanopoulos' book has remained the No. 1 non-fiction best seller for seven weeks.

I'm not sure what that says about America's readers except that we're a bunch of snoopy voyeurs with soap-opera mentalities (present company excluded, of course).

Young Stephanopoulos was senior counselor to Clinton for four years, advising him on everything from Iraq to gays in the military to Paula Jones.

Jeffrey Frank, reviewing for The New Yorker magazine, wrote: "Stephanopoulos gives a disturbing picture not only of Bill Clinton but of the modern White House, a place of mood swings, office intrigue and chaos."

Another reviewer, Rebekah Warren of Amazon books, wrote: "All Too Human" is a lively look at the complex and motley cast of characters who rule the world."

Scary?

Personally, I gag whenever I see Clinton on television trying to pontificate about foreign wars and national calamities.

Surely, we deserved a better leader in the 1990s, but there's probably truth in the old saying that the voters get the kind of leader they deserve.

Interviewed in Kennedy's magazine, McCurry was kinder to Clinton than some of us might be.

As a spokesman for Nebraska senator Bob Kerrey, a Democratic presidential candidate in 1992, McCurry openly questioned whether the front-runner, Clinton, was "honest enough" for the office.

Clinton, nonetheless, called on McCurry in 1993 to be his State Department spokesman. Two years later, McCurry replaced Dee Dee Myers as press secretary.

"Clinton is fun to be around," McCurry says. "You like him instantly because he's got a strong personality and you sense that he's fundamentally a good person."

"Everybody who talks about him acknowledges that he's got these flaws, but in his heart he really does care about the American people and about this country. And I'm sure he kicks himself for coming up short of his own standards, and you have to feel sorry for him because of that."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

What goes around, comes around in Fox watershed

Due to unplanned growth, past inept or corrupt political decisions, wetland mitigation and nature, the chief agent, Lake County's Fox River Watershed is being recognized for contributing to the pollution levels of the only river in Illinois to be ranked seventh out of 10 most endangered waterways in the nation.

The condition of this river is being portrayed as a "showcase for some of the most devastating environmental impacts of sprawl," according to American River, a national conservation organization report.

The time frame of this environmental devastation coincides with the attitude of some political players and developers who were in control and "had such power over land and riverscapes."

This report validates that corrupt measures were being taken to push questionable developments through the process.

Fortunately, the politicians who made those destructive decisions were voted out of office. For others, their decision to by-pass environmental concerns has come back to haunt them.

The Fox River Watershed has been invaded by developers scurrying in to build before village and county ordinances are updated.

The Home Builders Association has been delivering their stormwater management opinions at meetings and public hearings peppered with an underlining threat of a lawsuit.

However, "smart growth" seems to be the nation's new buzz word.

Counties are revising rules governing development that eliminates building in environmentally sensitive areas throughout the United States.

Approval and enforcement of the Lake County Unified Development Ordinance and Watershed Development Ordinance is a good beginning. Knowing County hired two new enforcement officers is a great start. Providing a 24-hour hotline for weekend problems is a smart-growth.

Fox River's future depends on the attitude of taxpayers, developers and politicians of this watershed. We can pay now to prevent further pollution or pay later to restore it.

Stop and help

On Thursday, April 15, about 2:45 p.m., I decided to take my motorized scooter and proceed quickly through the rain down the driveway and across the street to the mailbox. I accomplished this and with the mail in hand, proceeded to retrace my tracks. However, when I hit the edge of the driveway uneven I tipped over onto the edge of the driveway. I was not hurt, but in my physical condition, I was having difficulty getting my scooter back up, mail back in hand, and me on scooter. The latter became impossible.

By this time several cars and vans went by with nobody stopping. Finally, a young lady in a Bronco type vehicle stopped as well as a bus driver. With their help I was able to get back onto the scooter and with a lot of "thank you," get back into the garage.

I want to thank these kind people one more time. As a handicapped person, life is not always easy. There are occasions when we desperately need your help. You answered the call.

However, my hope is that those vans and cars that sped right by might have another chance to stop and help a person in need. I hope they make the most of it.

Slammed twice

Lake County citizens. In case you haven't noticed we're about to be "slammed" by our county and state government to the cost of $11 million times two. We did not vote to spend $11 million for a new University Center. A small clique of so-called "leaders" have convinced themselves and some state senators and representatives that another fiefdom be created so political appointees can be named and payed as trustees at our expense and a total of $22 million spent at the start. (A fiefdom, like the Illinois Tollway Commission, is a never ending non-elected expense.)

The state doesn't really want to spend $11 million in Lake County. It's afraid of setting a precedent for all other counties to follow. Sometimes logic has no place in Lake County. This University Center is not supported by the entire community as Susan Garrett says. This is ego at its worst. The entire community includes me, and you, and we haven't given our OK to spend any money.

Quote: "The proposed center wouldn't have a teaching staff of its own, but would use instructors from 12 other colleges and universities." Please name the 12. If these people are readily available, they still have to be paid; their office staffed; the copy machine and secretary supplied. The final location of the center must either be bought, rented or built and maintained, heated, lighted, snow plowed and so on. And what's the big deal about having classes at both night and during the day? Our College of Lake County does it daily and nightly. If CLC is inadequate to teach more and higher level students, improve it. Expand it. The infrastructure is already there: buildings, gymnasium, parking lots, a library, sewer and water, electricity, gas. And the Vocational center can also be upgraded to supply county businesses and manufacturers with well-trained technical workers.

Spend $11 million on CLC if you've got it. Don't duplicate our expense. And don't try to ram-rod (or slam) Lake County citizens. Some-time arrogance covers ignorance, but not now.

Seminar addresses school safety

By JOHN ROSZKOWSKI
City Editor

In wake of the violence in Littleton, Colo., school and law enforcement officials from Lake County are getting together to discuss ways to ensure something like that doesn't happen closer to home.

A school safety seminar will be held from 9 a.m. to noon May 27 at the Holiday Inn in Gurnee to discuss "what Lake County can do" to prevent acts of the violence in the schools, according to Sheriff Gary Del Re.

Del Re said the event will be an open forum between the "law enforcement community, principals and school officials and other elected officials."

The purpose of the seminar will be so that school officials and law enforcement agencies can keep each other better informed about issues related to security and safety. The seminar will also address problem solving and preventive measures, as well as policies and procedures for dealing with potentially threatening situations.

Del Re said in the wake of the shootings at Columbine High School in Littleton, as well other shooting incidents in West Paducah, Ky., and Jonesboro, Ark., now is the time to evaluate "how we are doing things here."

"I think we need nothing less than a national commitment to protect our children and turn them away from violence," Del Re said.

"I hope this conference will create a safer, healthier school environment for us all," he added.

Del Re said the seminar is not designed to be a general public meeting, but at some point, a meeting will be held in which the public will be invited to give its input on these issues.

CHILDREN: Homes needed

even with the training, the fostering process presents a fair amount of challenges.

"The first thing I do is provide direction to the child. Often they are used to doing whatever, however and they need some guidelines," said.

Connita Hill, a foster parent from Zion, agrees.

"It's difficult to prevent your biological children from picking up some of the habits the foster children may bring into the home. You really have to work to strike the balance," Hill said.

Additionally, the balance of biological children and foster children has the potential to create problems.

"There are many considerations, sometimes the biggest one is the child fitting in with your family," Mrs. McKeown said. "We try to treat the foster children just as we do our children."

Since the goal is usually to return the children to their families, another challenge is faced when the children go home.

"When the child is returning to a good situation, it's not hard at all, however when the situation they are returning to is poor in our opinion, it's very difficult to see them go," McKeown said.

The McKeown's have been fostering children for the last 20 years and report that the experience has been valuable to them.

"You get out of it what you put in it," McKeown said. "Raising children in general is one of lives biggest challenges, and raising someone else's children is even more so. We do it because we are able to, and we get a lot of it."

"I never had this kind of care and attention when I was a child," Hill said. "So I always wanted to try to provide this to others."

Hill, along with her husband she has been fostering children for the last 10 years.

"When we got married I said this is something I have always wanted to do and Henderson said it was something he had always wanted to do in order to give back to the community."

Anyone interested in becoming a foster parent should call Catholic Charities at (847) 782-4000 or Lawson at (847) 782-4244.

How To Survive
The Job Search

By Nancy Sakol

Q: I interviewed at (name withheld) in March and accepted a great offer. The company set up for me to start on Monday, May 3rd and told me that I would be in training with other people for a period of 3 weeks. I went out of town to Rockford the weekend before I was supposed to start, to visit some friends. On Sunday night, I went to leave and found my car was dead. I was unable to get back in time for my first day of training. I was not able to reach anyone at the company that first day because all of the information I had on the company was at my house. It was not until Tuesday early afternoon that I got home and called the company to explain the situation. I spoke to Personnel and told them that I would definitely be there tomorrow. The person responded to me, "That won't be necessary." She then told me that there is no longer an availability in the company. In other words, I am without a job. So here, I waited almost a full month to start this job and just because I had a little bad luck, the company pulled the rug out from under me. Do you think I have any recourse? F.D. - Mundelein

A: Just on my knowledge alone of the company in question, I have to say that you were very fortunate to have been offered a position with them in the first place. How unfortunate for you that you let it get away. First of all, what you did not mention is that the company does training for new hires at specified dates and times. You were given full information on this. It is, and always had been policy that if it is necessary for an excused absence from a beginning training date, that the company has been known to extend the offer to begin on the following training date. In your case, you just didn't show up and you just didn't call until a day and half later. Training is once a month. In your letter, I was confused at the thought that you perhaps were putting the blame on the company for the reason you no longer have a job. Let's go with the facts... YOU chose to go out of town to visit friends with the idea that you would return the night before your big day. Keeping in mind that you didn't PLAN for this to happen, it was nonetheless poor planning. You left yourself NO OUT in the event something such as this happened. But the main thing that throws me, is the idea that you never tried to pick up the telephone the very first thing that morning to advise the company of your situation, in hopes of salvaging your job! What's with that? Did you think that perhaps the entire training group would hang out and wait, if and when you showed up? Or do you think that perhaps the company just figured they needed to move on without you. Remember, you did not surface until a day and a half after you were expected. That was irresponsible. For obvious reasons, a new employee cannot miss a first day of training and it's wrong of you to assume they would just take you in whenever you were ready. Don't use the excuse that you left the paperwork at home... After a month of waiting to start this job, you would think that you at least know the name of the company to be able to pick up a telephone and dial 411 and call there... or aren't there telephones in Rockford? My guess is that if you had picked up the telephone and explained the situation to them in a professional manner, you would be starting your position with this company on the next training date. I would seriously learn from this and move on.

Home & Garden '99

New ideas for privacy landscaping this spring

One of the biggest challenges facing homeowners is finding privacy in their own backyards. Many have turned to privacy fences to maintain their solitude, but find them dark, unattractive and confining.

Finding the perfect balance between seclusion and openness is difficult. Creative homeowners are turning to landscaping with plants and lattice to create a natural barrier between themselves and their neighbors. Privacy landscaping adds cover where needed while maintaining an open atmosphere throughout the rest of the yard.

Lattice is a framework of strips made from plastic, wood or metal interwoven to form beautiful patterns. The crisscross pattern in the lattice filters sunlight, creating splendid shadow patterns, and is an ideal framework for climbing plants.

Use lattice to accent landscape and foliage while providing privacy:

- Add lattice to the top of an existing fence to add height while maintaining openness.
- Build a lattice surround for an outdoor spa or hot tub.
- Use lattice to mask a carport or hide unsightly objects.
- Build a garden wall or arbor with lattice for climbing plants.
- Add lattice around a deck or porch to create an intimate, private patio.

Plastic lattice is perfect for privacy landscaping in places that get direct sunlight or are exposed to harsh, wet weather. It comes in a variety of colors and styles, providing different degrees of privacy.

Unlike wood, plastic lattice will not rot. It is mildew- and insect-resistant and its color will not fade in the sun. Chips and scratches will not show because the color is consistent all the way through the lattice. It is versatile and sturdy, and can be screwed, nailed and sawed without splitting or cracking. For a free plastic lattice idea book, call TUFF-BILT at 1-800-394-6679 throughout North America or visit www.tuffbilt.com on the Internet.

Choose home products that make the living easy

Homes are not merely a showcase for stylish furniture and personal belongings, they're a place where, hopefully, lots of living goes on. As a nation with too much to do and too little time, the elements that make up our homes, ideally, need to be easy to maintain, durable and have a long life — as well as bring beauty into our lives.

"Today's consumer strives for simplification more than their parents' generation did. They want an attractive, but lower-maintenance home environment, and expect high-quality and exceptional value in the things they purchase," says Stuart Beattie, vice president of styling and design for Mannington, a laminate, wood and resilient flooring manufacturer.

So, what stylish home-decorating items are practical choices for the long haul, making your life easier and letting you focus on what's truly important — the people and activities you love? Beattie suggests the following:

- Consider laminate flooring — Laminate flooring is the newest antidote to a lively household. It provides the same rich look of wood or stone flooring, but upkeep is minimal. Whether you still are raising children, have a house full of pets or have added an elderly parent or two to your home, easy-care flooring that is durable and stands up to a range of activities always will make life easier. Mannington Laminate Floors has two distinctive specialty collections, the Historic Collection and the Exotic Collection, that give homeowners a wide range of unique native and international wood species like Knotty Heart Pine, Australian Cypress and Brazilian Cherry to choose from for a beautifully stylish, high-performing floor.

- Make your home's furniture as flexible and low-maintenance as possible — Items like upholstered furniture slipcovers (in materials that range from cotton twill to velvet, rather than the sterile plastic covers of yesterday) not only protect furniture, but enable consumers to change the look and color of furniture from everyday use to formal occasions. Stain-protected material will make spills easier to clean and prolong the fabric's appearance.

- Select easy-to-clean paints and wallcoverings — This simple investment can save a homeowner a lot of time and money over the years and keep a home's interior looking fresh.

- Consider your window choices — Today's well-designed windows come in a wide variety of styles. One option has the blinds between the sealed panes of glass and tilts inward for easy cleaning inside and out.

- Choose appliances designed to make your life easier — You may or may not need a stove or oven with all the "bells and whistles," but be sure to look for models that are specially designed to make cleanup a breeze. For instance, various new stove-top surfaces are created flat to make burner cleanup easier than with traditional stove coils.

- Go for solid countertops — Countertops in the kitchen and bath are exposed to a greater range of household substances and abuse than just about any other surface. There are a number of manufacturers producing high-quality surfaces that look like stone, marble or granite that are much easier to maintain than the real thing. Generally, countertops that are designed to be easy-cleaning also will keep their stylish great looks over the years. Grouted ceramic tile surfaces by their nature create areas for trapping dirt, and porous surfaces like limestone and wood are not as stain-resistant.

"The great thing about all of these options is that homeowners don't have to sacrifice stylish, good looks for easy maintenance and durability," says Beattie. "Today's living may not be exactly easy, but for many people, it's full of challenges and adventures that are more interesting than repairing and cleaning the house. Manufacturers know this and have developed many new products in response to this reality."

For more information on Mannington Laminate Floors, call 1-800-443-5667 or visit the company's Web site at <http://www.mannington.com>.

Homes showcase the life of a house and need to stand up to a lot of living. So, choosing products that stay great-looking through the years cuts down on those precious commodities — time and money. One of the best things a homeowner can do to make life more effortless and beautiful is to choose a distinctive, easy-to-maintain, laminate floor like this Antique Barn Oak pattern from the Mannington Historic Collection.

Homeowners find safe ways to keep deer, rabbits away from their landscaping

As small towns grow bigger and new residential developments continue to infringe upon previously unpopulated areas, the incidence of deer and rabbit damage to homeowners' trees, flowers, and vegetable gardens is skyrocketing across the country. Commercial tree farms and orchards are dealing with the problem as well.

"As people move further into the country, our new homes start to encroach into the territory of deer and rabbits, not to mention elk, moose, antelope and other grazing animals," says Amar Grewal, president of ASG Consultants, makers of a non-toxic, completely natural product that repels animals from landscape foliage. "Our goal has been to produce an effective and cost conscious animal repellent that will keep the animals from eating the landscape of the homeowner without hurting the animals."

The product, exported from British Columbia, Canada, keeps grazing animals away from trees, shrubs, flowers and other food sources typically found in a homeowner's yard. "We recently started using Repellex and the results were almost immediate," says David White, president of Inland Environments of Hilton Head Island, S.C. "It's been reported in recent national news coverage that the deer situation on Hilton Head Island has reached epidemic proportions, and I can't agree more." "Beautiful blooming plants and shrubs are planted one day, and they are gone the next. When we tried this product, reports began coming into our office almost immediately of deer actually taking a few sniffs, turning up their noses and walking away," White said with a smile.

According to Grewal, it is important to use any animal repellent before the problem starts to get out of hand. He recommends applying liquid animal repellents when it is calm and there isn't a chance of rain for the next few days. This gives the product a chance to dry and set on the plants. Don't use repellents on vegetables or fruit that is intended for human consumption. If you spray an apple tree or a vegetable garden, the deer won't eat your fruits of labor, but you won't either.

Always wear gloves when applying repellents, and don't spray when it is windy. Even non-toxic repellents will leave a foul taste in your mouth if they come into contact with your skin. Don't touch your lips with your gloves, either.

It is important to note that repellents won't stop deer from rubbing their antlers on the trees to remove their velvet in the fall, although the odor may be strong enough to prompt the animals to choose another rubbing post. Grewal adds that because Repellex is effective on evergreens as well as deciduous trees, it will slow or stop the damage incurred by porcupines, too.

If you would like more information about Repellex, call Specialty Garden Supply at 1-800-635-8969 or visit their Web site at www.rmausa.com. Orders can be placed over the phone or the Internet and are shipped within 72 hours.

Vinyl siding: A strong defense against high winds and weather

It's true. Everyone talks about the weather, and most of us think there's nothing we can do about it. But as it turns out, there is. Whether you live in tornado alley, in a coastal area susceptible to hurricanes, or anywhere subject to the El Niño-effect, there is a product that can protect your home against the high winds that accompany the harsh weather patterns sweeping the country. It's vinyl siding. But not just any siding. It's a series of products from CertainTeed Corporation that use RigidForm™ technology.

ATRUETWISTER STORY

If this surprises you, just ask Keith Sandborg, a home builder in Minnesota. Just months after completion of his home, a tornado packing winds of up to 220 mph plowed through Sandborg's community, resulting in millions of dollars worth of damage to homes and businesses.

Though not in the direct path of the tornado, Sandborg's neighborhood, just blocks away, suffered substantial damage primarily as a result of high winds. Sandborg's home, however, withstood the storm's fury with his siding completely intact. His neighbors, including his brother, were not as lucky — one lost all his siding, and his brother lost both siding and windows.

Sandborg credits the RigidForm technology with protecting his home and has since installed it on a number of homes in the area, including that of his brother.

THE TECHNOLOGY BEHIND THE PERFORMANCE

Depending upon the product, RigidForm technology incorporates a number of engineered design features that account for the excellent performance in high-wind situations. RigidForm products have a special rolled-over nail hem that holds up to high winds — nails don't tear through the easy way that they do in ordinary designs. This feature also adds rigidity and helps to provide a straighter on-the-wall installation.

There are three products in the RigidForm series, giving various levels of protection. So, depending upon your needs, there is a product that will help protect your home in the most severe weather conditions.

180 MILES PER HOUR

The product Sandborg used on his home, Monogram™ RigidForm 180 siding, is CertainTeed's premium product using the technology. It incorporates a double-thick .088-inch nail hem, enabling the siding to withstand wind-load pressures of up to 180 mph, the highest wind-load resistance of all the company's vinyl siding products.

In addition, Monogram uses the exclusive CertiLock™ post-formed positive lock system, which has self-aligning multiple bends that snap together for a consistent application from panel to panel. A true .044-inch thickness lends added strength and durability, and a 3/4-inch panel projection creates exceptional rigidity for straighter on-the-wall performance.

By withstanding wind loads of up to 180 mph, Monogram far surpasses the wind-load standard of 150 mph recommended in hurricane-prone areas like the Florida and Texas coastlines. Even better, homeowners who choose Monogram do not have to sacrifice color and styling for performance. The product is available in the industry's widest array of colors including unique and darker hues as well as natural wood-tone blends. Decorative trim in coordinating colors includes wide corner posts, window and door trim, crown molding, and even corner blocks with rosettes. Monogram is offered in four classic styles: Double 4-inch Rough Cedar Clapboard; Double 4-inch Smooth Brushed Clapboard; Double 5-inch Rough Cedar Clapboard; and Double 5-inch Rough Cedar Shiplap.

160 MILES PER HOUR

Featuring a rolled-over nail-hem design that provides wind-load resistance of up to 160 mph, Main-Street™ RigidForm 160 siding exceeds wind-load standards in every state, making it an excellent value at a mid-range price point.

Eight classic styles and finishes are available in the Main-Street line: Triple 3-inch Smooth Brushed Clapboard; Double 4-inch Smooth Brushed Clapboard; Double 4-inch Woodgrain Clapboard; Double 5-inch Woodgrain Clapboard; Double 4-inch Woodgrain Shiplap; Double 5-inch Woodgrain Shiplap; Single 8-inch Woodgrain Clapboard; and Single 6 1/2-inch Smooth Brushed Beaded. There are 14 Main-Street colors available and a variety of matching and contrasting trim.

135 MILES PER HOUR

For high performance at a more economical price, Hamilton Park® RigidForm™ 135 resists winds of up to 135 mph, giving homeowners a good hedge against the occasional high winds they might experience during the year.

The siding is available in four popular styles, each in a low-gloss woodgrain look, including: Double 4-inch or 5-inch Clapboard; Double 4 1/2-inch Shiplap; and Triple 3-inch

The vinyl siding on this house is CertainTeed's Monogram™ RigidForm™ 180 — engineered to withstand wind loads of up to 180 mph, surpassing wind-load standards in every state. A range of styles and colors complement any architecture.

Clapboard. There are 10 colors and a range of matching and contrasting trims from which to choose. In addition, RigidForm products offer a number of standard CertainTeed features. They carry a lifetime limited warranty, clear-through color so scratches won't show, and never need painting or sealing. Regular washing is all that's needed to keep the siding looking like freshly painted wood.

These products also carry the Vinyl Siding Institute's Certification, verifying that they meet or exceed the industry standard for vinyl siding.

For more information on RigidForm technology or any of CertainTeed's building products, visit the company online at <http://www.certainteed.com> or call 1-800-782-8777.

What do Bill Gates, Martha Stewart and Oprah have in common? Americans voted their bathrooms as those they would most like to use

So whose bathroom would you most like to use? Bill Gates', Martha Stewart's or Oprah Winfrey's? Or, who do you think hogs the bathroom more... men or women?

The answers to these and many other questions that Americans commonly ask each other in America's coffee shops, workplaces and hair salons were recently revealed in the 1999 Bathroom Habits Survey. This national poll was conducted on behalf of American Standard (NYSE: ASD), the company whose bathroom fixtures have been a household name for more than a century.

According to Jeannette Long, American Standard team leader of marketing, American Standard undertook the study to better understand how Americans use their bathrooms on a day-to-day basis. The study, conducted in February 1999, surveyed more than 800 U.S. residents about their home bathroom habits, likes and dislikes, and what they fantasize about in a luxury dream bathroom.

American Standard 1999 Bathroom Habits Survey - Part 1

"Americans have a unique relationship with their bathroom," says Long. "With today's highly stressful lifestyles, the bathroom has truly become a sanctuary; a place people can unwind and refresh themselves. At the same time, it's essential for families to peacefully co-exist in the bathroom as they prepare for a busy day ahead. People get really frustrated with another person who takes too long, leaves the toilet unflushed or leaves gobs of toothpaste in the sink."

For example, when it comes to that very question "what luxuries do Americans long for in their dream bathrooms?" American Standard learned that Americans named the whirlpool as the single most important bathroom fixture in a dream bathroom. Other features listed include: a new shower system and/or new shower faucets; a shower with multiple showerheads; a stylish bathroom vanity; and a longer/larger bathtub.

"The insight this survey provides is invaluable, not only for American Standard, but also for builders, designers, plumbers and even consumers," says Long. "The bathroom can be at times a taboo topic."

Bathroom Time

According to the study, when the weekend comes, Americans hit the bathrooms. Americans said Saturday is the day they spend the most time in the bathroom, followed by Sunday. As for the weekdays, Americans spend the most time in the bathroom on Monday than any other day. Americans spend the least amount of time in the bathroom on Thursday.

American Standard 1999 Bathroom Habits Survey - Part 2

Americans spend an average of 35 minutes in the bathroom each day. Comparatively men and women occupy the bathroom about the same amount of time. However, when American Standard looked at this question by age groups, it found that more than 27 percent of Americans, ages 18-24, spend 60 or more minutes in the bathroom each day.

So how do Americans spend time in their bathrooms? Here are some real juicy tidbits:

The favorite bathroom activity among Americans is taking a hot bath, followed by dressing in the bathroom and applying make-up. Interestingly, 42 percent of Americans read a newspaper, book or catalog; 22 percent have a conversation with another person and 10.5 percent watch TV or listen to music in the bathroom. As for singing in the shower, only 17 percent of Americans admit to singing in the shower. Of those who do, Baby Boomers, ages 35-44, tend to sing in the shower more than any other age group.

call before you dig*

It may seem like a simple task, but it can save your life. If you dig into a natural gas line, you could cause a fire or explosion. With more than a million miles of pipeline in the country, there's only one way to dig safely. Call 1-800-892-0123 two days before you plan to dig.

Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America (NGPL) clearly marks where gas lines are located, and where you shouldn't dig. Calling for locations of natural gas facilities is more than just a good idea—it's the law.

And if you ever smell natural gas, leave the area immediately. Don't operate any equipment, don't flip any electrical switches. Simply get away and call NGPL from another location.

Please take the time to call before you dig. Your family will understand if you forget to pick up the milk.

Pet OF THE WEEK

PATTON
VIVE LA FITE

Patton AKA "Vive LaFite" is this week's "PET OF THE WEEK." This 13-year-old full Egyptian, Arabian Gelding has been in numerous equestrian events. He's gentle enough for little children and strong enough for a fun ride for adults. Patton acts more human than horse. He kisses, begs for treats and is spoiled rotten.
